ON THE COVER: Danny Talbott, North Carolina's two-sport star who as a quarterback was the Atlantic Coast Conference player of the year in '65 and as a first baseman was an All-ACC choice. The 6-foot, 180-pound senior who is a history major led Rocky Mount (N.C.) High School to state titles in football, basketball and baseball. Last year his passing and place-kicking helped him top the ACC in total offense (1,477 yards) and in scoring (70 points). After graduation he'd like a chance at either professional football or baseball.

INSIDE BACK COVER: Big pileups can occur off the field too, as Charley Hurley of Williams and his fellow equipment managers across the country well know. More than 1,000 pieces of gear must be sorted, cleaned and possibly reconditioned in a post-season game that takes at least two weeks to "play."

A REAL SWINGER—Since there's no chandelier handy, Brown's Bill Carr (25) settles for the head of Colgate's Norris Clark. Actually, Clark is paying the price of intercepting a pass intended for Carr. Brown celebrated more after 6-0 victory.

NATIONAL PREVIEW-REVIEW

More Speed, Less Size To Be Coaches' New Ploy For 98th Collegiate Season

By FRED RUSSELL

*Sports Editor, The Nashville Banner
President, Football Writers' Association of America*

On the very first day, anno Domini 1966, football games of striking significance were played in Pasadena and Miami.

UCLA and Alabama, two good little teams, defeated two good big teams—Michigan State and Nebraska respectively. The superior agility of the former requires an obvious amendment to the ancient bromide.

Fred Russell

The good little team can win—if it is quicker and niftier. Not just a hypothesis, but a tenet, convincingly hammered home by what happened in the Rose Bowl and Orange Bowl, it will influence a growing number of coaches in shaping front-line troops for this 98th season of collegiate football.

"If a fellow can outrun you, all the muscle in the world won't help you catch him," is the uncomplicated way Miami (Fla.) Coach Charlie Tate explains his thinking on the subject.

Jim Carlen, when appointed to his position as West Virginia's new head coach, said, "I want more speed here. I'll take a man who is quick on his feet before the ordinary big boy."

The 1965 season brought an all-time high in the quotient of point-making, shifting leads and pulse-accelerating denouements. Tops were the West Virginia-Pittsburgh (63-48), Georgia-North Carolina (47-35), and the Tennessee-UCLA (37-34) heart-pounders.

Scrambling quarterbacks, sprint-out passers and the spread of the I-formation, all thinning out the defenses, have added an exciting dimension to the game. Spectators relish it along with platooning.

Gigantic teams, which are fast too, will continue to crush and conquer. Never doubt it. But look for the smaller, shiftier lineman with mercurial spring to receive more attention and log more playing time.

When the Los Angeles Dodgers won the World Series in 1965, they set off a revolution. Imitators of their go-go style of play, with a reemphasis on speed and defense, popped up all over the baseball map. So it will be in collegiate football in the coming season.

Whether by choice or by necessity, or both, one person who will trot a lighter line onto the gridiron this fall is that accomplished comedian, pantomimist, tenor, humorist and—best—coach, Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State. He retains only end Charles (Bubba) Smith, 268 pounds, from an awesome five-across defensive line that averaged 244 pounds.

Another player on whom Daugherty will rely heavily is his barefooted Hawaiian kicker, Dick Kenney. Duffy makes Kenney cut his toenails regulary. "Otherwise," Daugherty explains, "he scars too many footballs."

Not until his team came a cropper in the Rose Bowl did someone recall that Daugherty once said, "Why don't they have those goal line stands in the middle of the field? Then you could see them better."

All season long, Michigan State gave Duffy the view he craved. The Big Ten kings whipped 10 straight opponents and won United Press International's national championship. But in the Rose Bowl, the Spartans couldn't check the Bruins' scoring thrusts, either near midfield or near the goal line. UCLA won, 14-12, and Michigan State lost the Associated Press version of the national title.

Thus the team with the stoutest ground defense in the land confirmed Daugherty's only reservation in his otherwise unsuperstitious nature. "It's bad luck," he says, "to be behind at the end of the game."

In the Rose Bowl, Daugherty found out that the Pasadena game and all year-end games can be an entire season compressed into one contest.

For the first time, the AP decided to withhold its final poll until after the bowl games, as the Football Writers' Association of America has always done. The fallacy of trying to rate the top 10 teams at the end of the regular season was never more clearly evidenced. Ranked 1-2-3 and all undefeated and untied after their final games in November, Michigan State, Arkansas and Nebraska were all dumped on New Year's Day.

Arkansas had won 22 consecutive games when upset by Louisiana State, 14-7, in the Cotton Bowl. Nevertheless, Coach Frank Broyles of the Razorbacks didn't escape a certain amount of censure from the team's followers, including this letter from an 11-year-old boy: "I think you goofed, really goofed, when you let LSU win. I was very mad. Very. I was and still am a loyal fan of yours, but let's see some winning."

UCLA's 22 regulars averaged only 198 pounds, and Alabama was even smaller. Ardent supporters still marvel at how Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's super-swift Crimson Tide knocked the props from under beefy—but certainly not slow—Nebraska, by a 39-28 score in the Orange Bowl.

Lean, light-footed Alabama established its claim to a second straight national championship with that triumph. Alabama won the AP poll, and the Football Writers' Association's point system resulted in an exact tie, with the Grantland Rice Trophy going to Alabama and Michigan State.

Like it or not, bowl games have become an integral part of the season and are much more meaningful than in the past, sometimes determining the Coach of the Year. They did last New Year's Day. UCLA had lost two games and was tied once, but when the Bruins upended Michigan State, it gave their coach, Tommy Prothro, the nod over Duffy Daugherty.

When Prothro left Oregon State for UCLA last year, a Los Angeles sports columnist wrote: "Tommy did not come to UCLA to lose, but he'll learn." Given a gifted quarterback in sophomore Gary Beban, Prothro vigorously resisted such learning and probably will again this fall.

As for Beban, he could be a leading candidate for the Heisman Trophy, although halfback Floyd Little of Syracuse or quarterbacks Bob Griese of Purdue or Steve Spurrier of Florida may cart it off.

Imaginative and technical advances, possibly the consequence of platoonery, continue to be made in college football. Each season attendance records are set. This is not so much the result of enlarged stadiums and increasing population as it is the attraction of a constantly spectacular, colorful, enthralling and stimulating sport.

DOG GONE!—This stadium worker missing a flying tackle could never play defense on the Michigan State team he readies field for. The awesome Spartans smothered Michigan and Ohio State rushers for minus 51 and minus 22 yards in successive games.

NATIONAL CHAMPIONS, 1924-1965

For the third time in 12 seasons, the press association polls did not agree on a team as the unofficial national champion for 1965. The United Press International (coaches) named Michigan State at the season's end. The Associated Press (writers) waited until after the year-end bowl games to declare Alabama its choice.

The Football Writers' Association of America emphasized the deadlock when its selection committee voted its post-bowl games Grantland Rice Award to both Alabama and Michigan State.

Opinion, as expressed by the polls, was similarly divided between Ohio State and UCLA in 1954 and between Auburn and Ohio State in 1957. Since then, the polls had agreed for seven straight years, although other selectors contributed to a three-way "sharing" of the mythical title by Alabama, Arkansas and Notre Dame in 1964.

The AP poll of sports writers was originated in 1936 and the UPI poll of coaches was begun in 1950. Representing the combined opinions of observers across the country, they are the most popularly accepted electors to mythical national title honors. Prior to the polls, the Rissman and Knute Rockne trophies symbolized the championship from 1924 to 1936. The titlists thus designated:

1965—Ala., Mich. St.	1954—Ohio St., UCLA	1943—Notre Dame	1932—Michigan
1964—Alabama	1953—Maryland	1942—Ohio State	1931—So. California
1963—Texas	1952—Michigan State	1941—Minnesota	1930—Notre Dame
1962—So. California	1951—Tennessee	1940—Minnesota	1929—Notre Dame
1961—Alabama	1950—Oklahoma	1939—Texas A&M	1928—So. California

NATIONAL RATINGS, 1936-1965

The most successful major teams of the past 30 years, according to the ratings produced by the press association polls, have been Notre Dame and Oklahoma. Counting 10 points for each season-end first place rating, 9 for second and so on, the Irish have accumulated 117 points, the Sooners 94 with the rest far behind:

1. Notre Dame .. 117	5. Ohio State .. 68	9. Army .. 61	12. Navy .. 50
2. Oklahoma ... 94	6. Tennessee .. 67	10. Minnesota .. 57	14. UCLA .. 46
3. Michigan ... 74	7. Texas .. 64	11. LSU .. 52	15. So. Calif. .. 40
4. Alabama ... 73	8. Mich. State .. 63	12. Mississippi .. 50

The rules committee did not change its statute governing substitution. Virtually free entry is allowed. However, the two-way player isn't quite as extinct as the iguanodon, and still thrives at some schools.

In the coaching ranks, there are some new faces and places. Bill Murray left Duke and became executive chairman of the American Football Coaches Association, being succeeded by Tom Harp. A few days before spring practice began, Paul Dietzel resigned as Army coach and took the South Carolina head coaching position.

One campus where there is absolutely no interest in any coach other than the incumbent is located in Tuscaloosa, Ala., home of a very successful citizen named Bryant. "Our seniors," he says, "can become the first group in the history of football to play on three straight national championship teams. "I get fired up just thinking about it."

Alabama seems well-stocked for the attempt—lots of lettermen on hand (34), abundant class and the intense pride all Bryant teams feel. Ray Perkins, a man with gifted hands, bewildering moves and much courage, should be one of the nation's great ends. Big Leslie Kelley storms at the enemy from either halfback or fullback. If a reasonable facsimile of since-departed quarterback Steve Sloan is found, the Bear may have even more reason to get fired up this season.

You can safely bet that Alabama will play in its eighth straight bowl game. Whether the Crimson Tide can grab all the marbles again has to be a long shot, but still possibly the best pre-season pick.

It is far from certain—anything but—that Southeastern Conference title favorite 'Bama can defeat Mississippi on October 1. Unaccustomed to losing four games in two successive seasons and unwilling to let it happen again, Ole Miss Coach Johnny Vaught is expecting an improved team, maybe an outstanding one if Jody Graves comes through at quarterback and injured backs Don Street and Bobby Wade can go at full speed.

Louisiana State, its confidence greatly bolstered by the conquest of Arkansas, will miss almost two complete elevens from last season's Cotton Bowl squad. Florida will use sophomores liberally but returns superb quarterback Spurrier, who ranked fourth in the country in total offense last year with 2123 yards. Tennessee has a unique asset—two unusually capable quarterbacks, Dewey Warren and Charlie Fulton.

Wary of finishing at or close to the bottom in the conference and needing a first-class quarterback, Vanderbilt scoured the junior colleges and brought in Gary Davis, a brilliant passer who led Cerritos (Calif.) Junior College to a perfect record in 1965.

His recruitment by Vanderbilt Coach Jack Green supports the theory of Jack Curtice, coach of the University of California at Santa Barbara. Curtice, 1965 small-college Coach of the Year, says, "Passing is the great equalizer if your material is inferior to the other guy's."

Among Southern independents, Georgia Tech, often a bowl game guest, may have the best chance of receiving another invitation. Coach Bobby Dodd has Kim King, a talented junior quarterback, and Lenny Snow, a tremendous runner. Miami will be faster, but the schedule is so difficult that a bowl appearance is almost out of the question.

Versatile quarterback Danny Talbott is the ace of a veteran North Carolina team to beat for the ACC championship. If tailback Garrett Ford, who gained 894 yards rushing in '65, can be fenced in, there may be room at the top of the Southern Conference for somebody besides West Virginia.

This might be the year that Michigan State succeeds itself as the Big Ten champion. But a team hasn't repeated in this league since 1955, when Ohio State did it. Most of the 44 players Daugherty took to Pasadena rejoin him, including four 1965 All-Americans—roverback (or monster man) George Webster, halfback Clinton Jones, end Gene Washington and Smith.

Purdue, yearning for its first undisputed Big Ten title since 1929 and its first Rose Bowl trip ever, will challenge with the eminent Mr. Griese, who sustained only eight interceptions in 238 casts a year ago and threw for 1719 yards. Nor can Ohio State be disregarded.

Rich in holdovers, the Elliot brothers, Bump at Michigan and Pete at Illinois, may field contenders. Pete would be happy to "bump" off his brother when their teams clash at Ann Arbor, particularly since it would be the first time in seven tries.

Indiana hardly will be a title threat, yet no less than former Vice President Richard Nixon predicts, "Within five years under John Pont, Indiana will capture the Big Ten title and go to the Rose Bowl."

The Irish—in fact, all Notre Dame followers—are advised not to worry. Coach Ara Parseghian is blessed with gobs of talent. What coach wouldn't count himself privileged with running backs like Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar? Coley O'Brien might be sophomore quarterback of the year.

Nobody is conceding in the rugged Southwest Conference, where most teams will be improved. Nevertheless, Arkansas must, sensibly, be the choice to win its third straight title under Broyles.

The Razorbacks' swift, sinewy Loyd Phillips, a 225-pound tackle, could be a sound pick as Lineman of the Year. Broyles lost a majority of his offensive starters but retains quarterback Jon Brittenum and halfback Harry Jones, who goes like a streak.

Texas? The Longhorns averaged 22 passes per game last fall when they, surprisingly, dropped three more games after Arkansas beat them. Coach Darrell Royal's boys may throw even more, go wider oftener with a spiffier attack in which heralded sophomore Bill Bradley will be fitted.

Baylor's biggest plus is quarterback Terry Southall, who suffered a broken leg early last fall. Jess Neely experienced a 2-8 campaign, his worst in 26 years at Rice. What do you do when things get that bad? "You look for football players," Neely replied. He thinks he has found some.

Bob Devaney's career at Nebraska parallels, so far, Bud Wilkinson's in his early years at Oklahoma. In his first four seasons as coach of the Cornhuskers, Devaney's teams have won 38 of 44 games, played in four bowl games and won the last three Big Eight championships.

Accurate passer Bob Churchich comes back to the gridiron wars in the company of "Lighthorse" Harry Wilson, Ron Kirkland, Pete Tatman and many other game-tested players. Nebraska is the logical choice to prevail in its neck of the woods, if not across the whole country.

Devaney, for one, isn't underestimating Missouri, Oklahoma and Colorado. Missouri's losses were considerable, but Charlie Brown, the league rushing leader with 937 yards, hopes to improve on last year's performance.

Tulsa and Texas Western ranked one-two in the nation in passing offense last season. So did the passer for each team, Bill Anderson of Tulsa and Billy Stevens of Texas Western. Glenn Dobbs coaches Tulsa. Bobby Dobbs coaches Texas Western. And since each brother is committed to the belief that the quickest, neatest way to score is by air, it will be no oddity if their teams and their passers are ranked at the top once more.

Bobby still has Stevens (3,042 yards and 21 touchdowns). Anderson (3,464 yards and 30 touchdowns) has departed, along with favorite receiver Howard Twilley, but Glenn Dobbs is a genius at schooling the right quarterback in short order. The right one this time might be his son, Glenn 3rd.

Coach-of-the-Year Prothro got sympathy last year when he arrived at UCLA. It's envy his colleagues feel now. Prothro greets 30 veterans, but four alone are enough to gladden any coach lucky enough to have them—quarterback Beban, halfback Mel Farr, and on defense, 255-pound guard John Richardson and linebacker Dallas Grider.

Minus Mike Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner and the nation's rushing leader, Southern California lacks some of UCLA's assets but should challenge. The best of the rest in the Athletic Association of Western Universities might be Oregon State or Washington State.

In the Western Athletic Conference, champion Brigham Young has star quarterback Virgil Carter, ace receiver Phil Odle and a lot more.

Syracuse should roll, possibly to a bowl game and probably into the hearts of the Lambert Trophy selectors who name the East's No. 1 team. Among the Orangemen's four returning backfield starters are All-America halfback Little and fullback Larry Csonka, who netted 1,065 and 795 rushing yards, respectively, in 1965.

The downfall of Arkansas left Dartmouth with the nation's longest current winning streak—10 straight. The Indians may repeat as Ivy League champions. At least three excellent reasons are linebacker Norm Davis, quarterback Mickey Beard and broken-field runner Gene Ryzewicz.

Dartmouth's Bob Blackman has coached three Ivy League winners in the last four years. Anyone saying it must be nice coaching where there is no alumni pressure draws a swift rebuttal. "There is no such place," Blackman says. "Our alumni want to win as much as alumni anywhere."

This recalls what Clemson Coach Frank Howard used to say—maybe he still does—when he admonished his team before sending it onto the gridiron. "Boys," Howard would say, "keep 'em off the alumni line." It was his way of reminding his players to stop opponents short of the goal line.

NINE-POINT PLAY?—It's true that an upside-down 6 is a 9, yet ball-carrier Ray Terry of Indiana got only the usual number of points for this unusual-looking touchdown that helped Hoosiers beat Iowa, 21-17. The grounded Hawkeye is Al Randolph.

WHAT SOME GUYS WON'T DO to impress a pretty cheerleader. And doesn't it just figure that Boston University end Jim Donahue's hobby is surfing. Despite his one-legged pass-catching performance, BU-Holy Cross battle ended in a 7-7 tie.

Dartmouth and Syracuse, the 1965 figureheads of the East's Ivy League and independent brands of football respectively, again figure to head their respective cults in the debate that at times rivals Frank Stockton's "The Lady or the Tiger?"

Syracuse retains a "Little" too much for the sector's top independents—record-breaking halfback Floyd Little—accompanied by more offensive strength than ever, and with only the up-front blocking needing much overhaul.

Six All-Ivy selections are gone from Coach Bob Blackman's Dartmouth team, whose 10-game win streak will be major-college's best on opening day, but the Indians' offensive and defensive backfields return virtually intact.

Lambert Trophy selectors, the electoral college that annually seats the East's No. 1 football team, gave Dartmouth a controversial 11-1 nod last year over intersectional-minded Syracuse.

Penn State and Navy, both one-touchdown victims of Syracuse, shape up as the 2-3 of the major independents. Princeton, itself on a 17-game win streak until its 28-14 finale loss to Dartmouth, lost so many quality performers that Harvard and Cornell are likelier Ivy contenders.

Syracuse Coach Ben Schwartzwalder prefers December coronation to preseason fanfare, but this time he can hardly decline. His Orange was the only member of the Big Five, which includes Penn State, Pittsburgh, Army and Navy, to clear the .500 mark last season. And as if an additional head-start was needed, while all the rest lose their ground-gaining workhorses, Ben retains the tandem of Little and 235-pound fullback Larry Csonka, whose combined 1,860-yard rushing total exceeds everything in prior Eastern history, including Army's Blanchard and Davis.

Penn State continuity is not affected by Rip Engle's retirement, since successor Joe Paterno had been the heir-apparent for years. The change-over is more visible at Pitt, where young Navy aide Dave Hart replaces Johnny Michelosen, and at Cornell and Buffalo, which hired the long-time righthand men in the Blackman and Ara Parseghian success stories. Cornell hired Jack Musick from Dartmouth after Tom Harp left for Duke, and Buffalo chose Doc Urich after Dick Offenhamer's retirement.

Schwartzwalder loses four offensive-line starters, led by center Pat

Killorin, but the 1965 freshmen were Syracuse's biggest ever and probably its best. Blue-chip 260-pounder Dave Johnson and rugged Jerry Beach are ready to step right in on defense, and Gary Bugenhagen is available for reconversion to the key outside-tackle spot in the unbalanced line. Dennis Meggyesy is back after a year's absence and defensive end Herb Stecker, hurt most of 1965, also returns.

Two sophomores might even break into the starting backfield—210-pound halfback Oley Allen and lefthanded quarterback Jim Del Gaizo, who will at least put pressure on Rick Cassata, last season's quarterback.

But the trump card is the bowlegged, 195-pound Little, who led the nation in TDs in 1965 with 19, and has amassed 3671 yards in two years as an all-purpose runner.

Penn State lost so heavily in the offensive line, at end and in the defensive secondary, that Paterno is talking about five or six two-way performers. But he can't help starting his plans around the record-breaking pass combination of Jack White and split-end Jack Curry.

Absence of fullback Dave McNaughton's 884 rushing yards may be covered by runners like Bill Rettig, Mike Irwin, Roger Grimes and versatile sophomore Bob Campbell. Sophomore end Ted Kwalick and junior tackle Bill Lenkaitis are foremost on the possible two-way duty roster.

White could wind up as the only quarterback incumbent among the Big Five and would-be sixth Boston College. Clint Harden's 13 TD passes for the Plebes last year has Navy's Bill Elias thinking that the Colorado Fred Barofsky thrusts sophomore Midwesterners Steve Lindell and Jim O'Toole to the fore. Pitt's "experience" is rollout quarterback Ed James' 10 minutes of action behind Kenny Lucas in 1965, while Boston College retains a couple of stand-ins to departed Ed Foley, though Eagle hearts are with 6-foot-2 Duke transfer Dave Thomas.

Army and Navy badly need offensive step-up, after 11 games in 1965 in which one or the other couldn't score two touchdowns. For trailblazing help, outstanding linebacker Townsend Clarke may also play center for UMP THUMPED—Gamely taking his lumps is umpire Dean Kersh, laid low by Arnold Smith (31) of Temple when the official's field position inadvertently helped Connecticut's Gary Blackney (43) to gain more ground. Obstreperous Owls won it, 12-11.

REQUEST PERMISSION TO SCORE, SIR—An apparent adherent of military courtesy, Navy fullback Danny Wong strains for end zone. Permission was denied by the Maryland defender who actually supplied saluting hand. Navy still triumphed, 19-7.

Army, and Navy is touting 6-6 Harry Dittmann at that position. Halfback Terry Murray is the best Middie running possibility.

Fireball Hart must re-ignite the Pittsburgh home-fire, which reached a modern low in giving up 311 points last year. Hart needs help at offensive tackle and defensive end, although the contributions by sophomore Skip Orszalak, Bob Longo and Jim Flanigan should help.

Boston College figures to be among the top independents if a defensive backfield materializes and Thomas comes through at quarterback. Backfield speed is a plus, with shifty 215-pound fullback Brendan McCarthy, who gained 901 yards as a sophomore, and halfbacks Dick DeLeonardis and Terry Erwin. Halfback Paul DellaVila, who was injured before the Army game, also returns. Though end Joe Pryor was an academic casualty, Boston College size is another plus, as witnessed by 6-foot-5, 245-pound Bob Hyland and 6-7, 270-pound defender Doug Shepard.

Rebellion among the Ivy also-rars will have a hard time building momentum if Dartmouth handles its opening-day assignment of Massachusetts and junior quarterback Greg Landry, who gained 2,037 yards in '65.

Of Dartmouth's six departed All-Ivies, three were ends, one a linebacker and one a halfback—Bob O'Brien. Nevertheless, the end problem will be half solved if Bob MacLeod's knee is OK after surgery. Holdover linebacker Norm Davis is in a class with '62 All-America Don McKinnon. The one backfield vacancy is solved by matinee-idol Gene Ryzewicz, who played quarterback, halfback and safetyman as a sophomore last season.

Princeton-game hero Mickey Beard remains the No. 1 quarterback, Pete Walton's 226 pounds are a reassuring standby at fullback, and other key returnees include center Chuck Matuszak, defensive back Wynn Mabry, place-kicker Bill Hay and tackle Hank Paulson. If the defensive end and tackle deficiencies can be adequately repaired, the November 12 game at Cornell could become the key one in the Ivy race.

But Cornell must find a quarterback and also hope that 215-pound sophomore sprinter Dave Morris can replace All-Ivy fullback Bill Wilson. Halfback speed is plentiful with '65 starters Pete Larson and Ron Gervase joined by freshman stars Ed Zak and Jim Heeps. Offensive tackle is more than ample with twin 6-foot-5s Harry Garman and Reeve Vanneman.

Princeton, whose supply lines sometimes seem endless, has come up with a left-footed South American place-kicker to replace Charley Gogolak, but no one yet to succeed Ivy total-offense champion Ron Landeck.

Harvard lost more lettermen than it retained, but the Crimson strong points are its defensive line, offensive tackle Steve Diamond, halfback Bobby Leo and rookie runners Joe McKinney and Vic Gatto.

Yale and Penn are on the way up under second-year coaches. An unbeaten Yale freshmen team, headed by quarterback Brian Dowling and fullback Calvin Hill, should beef up Coach Carmen Cozza's offense that totaled only two touchdowns in one four-game stretch during 1965. Of the returnees, tackle Bob Greenlee, split end Bob Kenney and scatback Court Shevelson are the best.

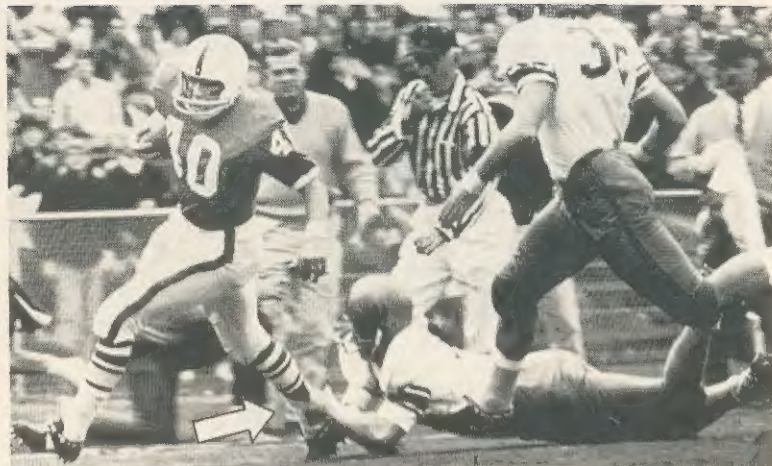

Bob Odell's I-formation gave Penn a .500 season in '65, only its second since 1952. League-leading pass-receiver Rick Owens is joined at end by Odell's son, Bob, Jr., and the quarterbacks should be more consistent with sophomore George Burdell pushing the lettermen. The interior line will be better, too, but linebacking and end help is needed.

Brown loses All-Ivy quarterback Bob Hall, so Coach John McLaughry may need all-league punter Joe Randall more than ever. The Bruins' lone Ivy win last year was its 51-7 finale at Columbia. The Lions look to sophomores for offensive help, and hope there are more defenders like guard Dick Flory and safety Bob Hast.

For two years, Colgate has been the most successful of the other independents (7-2 and 6-3-1), and Coach Hal Lahar is dreaming of doing even better. Loss of linebacker John Paske and the defensive halfbacks leaves gaps, but surviving linebacker Ray Ilg covers just about anything between defensive end Hap Clark and safetyman Tom Wilson. Center Bob Mink's return to health beefs up the big line, and an all-underclassmen backfield is on hand—sophomore quarterback Ron Burton, speedster Bob Boney and 220-pounders Marv Hubbard and Art Coupe.

FORGET SOMETHING, FELLA?—Though it looks like he's kicking only opponent's head, Charlie Farrell of Holy Cross really did boot the ball. But it was blocked by Massachusetts' Dave Kelley, despite grounded Earl Kirmser, and UMass won, 27-0.

A DIRTY, LOW-DOWN TRICK, all right, but this sweat-sock tackle attempt by Syracuse's Bill Zanieski did slow down Penn State halfback Mike Irwin long enough for Jim Cheyonski to help. Orange led early, then literally held on for 28-21 win.

Buffalo, 5-3-2 last year despite quarterback Rick Wells' mid-season broken leg, aims higher under new coach Ulrich. Ulrich's "T" moves Wells to halfback, with sophomore quarterbacks throwing to ends Dick Ashley and Paul Kleiker, but the Bulls' defense, No. 2 nationally against rushing in '65, suffered key losses.

Injuries were more than cruel in Holy Cross's debut under Mel Massucco last year. Crusader '64 sophomore quarterback sensation Jack Lentz missed the entire season with an injury, and will have to begin again. Boston University's geared-down schedule means happier days for the Terriers. Rutgers' bicentennial year will give Coach John Bateman something to celebrate only if a quarterback emerges to team consistently with end Jack Emmer and halfback Charley Mudie, and if there's more certainty about the interior line. Villanova has interior line needs, too, but sophomores like Richie Moore (6-7, 285) are on immediate call. Halfback John Kolmer and tackle John Fry are the top returnees from the '65 squad.

The most closely contested title in recent years is in prospect for the MAC University division. Bucknell is favored to retain its title against runnerup Hofstra, but both face problems from Temple, Delaware and Gettysburg. West Chester is again ineligible because of insufficient league games.

Bucknell returns 14 starters including quarterback Bob Marks. Even with Marks replacing the departed Bill Lerro, the Bisons miss record-setting end Tom Mitchell, who led the league last season, and end Ron Kinsey. Though Hofstra also lost ends Frank Coffey and Bill Starr, quarterback Don Gault, the division's top passer and total offense leader, returns with a dozen offensive and defensive veterans.

Temple and Delaware both are searching for new quarterbacks and both have major offensive and defensive gaps to plug. However, the Owls still have flanker John Fonash, and the Blue Hens' running game is again spearheaded by halfback Brian Wright, the league's leading ground-gainer. Gettysburg may need a year to redesign its offense and rebuild a defensive line, but Lafayette may move up with most of its offense and defense returning.

Wilkes, the northern college-division champion, is likely to repeat despite the loss of quarterback Dick Roshong. Runnerup Upsala again looms as the top contender though Lycoming and Juniata also should challenge.

Swarthmore, unbeaten in 1965 in the southern college-division, can expect a fight from Dickinson. Drexel may threaten despite only a five-game league slate, while Lebanon Valley must rebuild and Franklin and Marshall must replace triple-threat quarterback Seiki Murno.

Maine's Black Bears, headed by since-graduated quarterback Dick DeVarney, pulled a tremendous upset in 1965 by capturing the conference title. Maine's success is expected to be shortlived, though, as Massachusetts is expected to resume its supremacy. The Redmen became a solid unit last year under the guidance of sophomore quarterback Greg Landry (sixth in college-division individual total offense with 2,037 rushing-passing yards).

Maine still has all-conference linemen Bill Pasquill, Ivan Brawn and John Huard as a nucleus and is expected to battle Connecticut for second place.

Indiana State is expected to host perennial conference powerhouse, West Chester, in the championship playoff game in November. The Big Indians are favored to cop their third straight divisional and first conference title.

The initial contest in the eastern division between defending champion East Stroudsburg, with first-year coach Charles Reese, and West Chester, under new coach Bob Mitten, should decide the divisional title.

Indiana State will be hard pressed in the western division by Clarion and Edinboro with Slippery Rock as a possible darkhorse.

Westminster, which won or shared the title seven of the last eight years, is a serious challenger again with quarterback Smitty Cornell heading the returnees. Grove City faces a big rebuilding job, while Geneva has plenty of veterans but a poor performance record.

BOMB'S AWAY—Despite the "high-handed" efforts of Georgia tackle George Patton, Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton gets off another long pass. Norton, third 19 times and completed 11—three for touchdowns—as Kentucky nuzzled the Bull'dogs, 28-10.

By WAYNE THOMPSON

Sports Editor, The Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger

Will Alabama shatter tradition and win its third straight National Championship? Or will the Tide be turned back by Mississippi or Tennessee and even falter in its own Southeastern Conference dogfight?

Wayne Thompson

Those are just two of the burning questions that will not be fully answered until late November in this Deep South area where football may not exactly be king—but where you certainly couldn't tell it for several wild Saturdays each fall.

Elsewhere in the South, this is the big picture:

West Virginia may lose its status as boss of the Southern Conference after academic casualties dealt the Mountaineer squad a severe blow.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference, where a shot at national honors was erased by tremendous balance within the loop last year, North and South Carolina appear the best in pre-season judging.

And among the independents, Georgia Tech seems ready to make full use of its two-platoon capabilities and a less-demanding schedule and bid for national recognition. Miami and Florida State also paint bright pictures.

The SEC still doesn't have a complete round-robin schedule, but all three of the pre-season contenders do meet and the outcome of those three games could settle sectional as well as national honors.

Florida and LSU, among the best last year, bemoan the loss of a long list of talent and use the old rebuilding cry; Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi State and Auburn sing a similar tune but with a different refrain; while Vanderbilt, the only non-state school in a hot bed of personnel-strong rivals, continues to fight a losing battle.

You can't always believe that stuff about rebuilding. That was the cry out of Tuscaloosa last year, although with reason, yet it took the Crimson Tide only one game to end its losing streak.

Coach Bear Bryant did have some key losses, such as Steve Sloan and Paul Crane. But 34 of 44 lettermen are back, schooled in a winning tradition and the list includes six tackles, four guards, two centers and most of the 1965 team's top pass-receivers.

Southpaw Ken Stabler and senior Wayne Trimble are the leading quarterback candidates, and should either deliver in the accustomed Tide manner the National Championship committee just might move its headquarters permanently to Tuscaloosa.

Quarterback is also the big question at Ole Miss, where lack of a big man hurt the Rebels the past two years. The Rebs did post 5-4-1 and 6-4 seasons, followed by a bowl invitation each year, but both performances were far off the Johnny Vaught standard.

Despite these "off-seasons," the potential is again available for a championship year. Letterman Jody Graves returns at quarterback, though he may have to battle sophomore Terry Collier and defensive ace Bruce Newell. The defense returns almost intact with tackle Jim Urbanek, who could be a great one, middle guard Jimmy Keyes, tackle Dan Sartin and linebacker Lee Garner on hand. But offensive linemen are needed.

Tennessee lost just one game last year, that to Ole Miss by one point late in the season, but had a pair of deadlocks—with Alabama and Auburn—and finished with a 37-34 thriller over UCLA and a Bluebonnet win over Tulsa. Coach Doug Dickey lost some top stars but a host of others return, including quarterbacks Charlie Fulton and Dewey Warren, offensive ends Johnny Mills and Austin Denny and tailback Walter Chadwick. Track star and end Richmond Flowers, son of the Alabama attorney-general, heads the newcomers.

Florida, despite the presence of quarterback Steve Spurrier, fifth in the nation in passing in '65, may switch to a ground game because of tremendous losses in the receiving corps. The Gators also lost their entire defensive secondary, but returnees include center Bill Carr and linebacker Jerry Anderson. The best sophomores could be tailback Larry Smith and safetyman Larry Rentz.

Although 30 lettermen are back at LSU, the big problem is replacing 19 players lost via graduation, including nine offensive starters and six from the defensive unit. The physical condition of junior quarterback Nelson Stokley, who underwent knee surgery, is a factor that could be the difference between a fine or so-so year at Baton Rouge. Others returning are giant halfback Billy Masters (6-5, 225) and tailback Jimmy Dousay, the team's second leading ground-gainer.

All-America tackle George Patton is back at Georgia and his presence can't help but make the Bulldogs tough. Other players expected to star are quarterbacks Kirby Moore and Lynn Hughes, Frank Richter, Ken Pillsbury, Jimmy Cooley, Don Hayes, Randy Wheeler and Stu Mosher.

Just one regular returns to Mississippi State's offensive backfield—speedster Marcus Rhoden, who has been moved to tailback in the flip-flop offense—but the Bulldogs should be tougher defensively.

State's 32 lettermen are headed by junior defensive star Dwight Lewis and offensive end Harland Reed. Don Saget, moved to split end last year, is back at quarterback, where he will battle Phil Thomas and Tommy Garrison. At 6-4, 220 pounds, Saget could solve some problems.

Auburn's hopes for success hinge on a strong offensive line with a big, though not experienced, backfield. Coach Shug Jordan's Tigers have a fine kicking game, paced by punter Tommy Luncford and place-kicker Jimmy Jones, and fullback Tom Bryan, shifted from quarterback in mid-season last year, could be one of the league's stars.

Kentucky lists several key personnel losses, including a trio with All-America honors, but has top players returning in fullback Larry Seiple, linebacker Mike McGraw and safety Terry Beadles, who will probably inherit Rick Norton's quarterback slot.

The Wildcats do lack depth, but could field a better balanced club than last season, when they beat both Sugar Bowl champion Missouri and Ole Miss before faltering and winding up with a 6-4 season record.

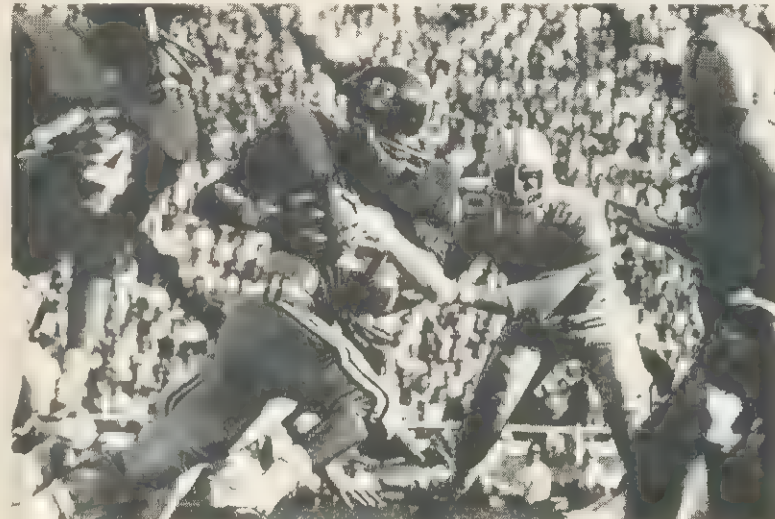

With Tulane now an independent, Vanderbilt falls heir to the cellar, although Coach Jack Green continues a studied search for top talent. Last year he concentrated on defense and the Commodores were never embarrassed, but Vanderbilt still lacks real punch or speed. Transfer quarterback Gary Davis could help change the prognosis.

South Carolina tied Duke for the ACC title last year, and the Gamecocks should be tougher in '66. Thirty-three of 49 lettermen return, including quarterback Mike Fair, who set school records as a sophomore, understudy Ted Wingard, tailback Ben Garoto, double-duty Benny Galloway, linebacker Bobby Bryant and safety Stan Juk. Some defensive replacements up front are sorely needed by new coach Paul Dietzel.

North Carolina's 30 lettermen back include the entire backfield, led by quarterback Danny Talbott (103 completions and 1080 yards). Yet Canadian halfback Dick Weslowski could move into the picture. End Bo Wood and tackle Hank Sadler add punch to the defense.

New Duke Coach Tom Harp has a trio of All-ACC selections—fullback Jay Calabrese, converted linebacker Bob Matheson and defensive tackle Chuck Stavins—plus quarterback Todd Orvald and ace receiver Dave Dunaway heading a list of 31 lettermen. Interior line replacements are the main problem, but the Blue Devils expect to improve.

After finishing with five straight victories in '65, North Carolina State moves into a new 41,000-seat stadium with high hopes for 1966. Most of the Wolfpack defensive starters return, including potential stars in tackle Dennis Byrd and end Pete Sokalsky. Veteran quarterback Charlie Noggle heads the offensive backfield returnees, while all-conference guard John Stec tops the linemen coming back.

DESPAIR OR DELIGHT?—Despair. Defensive end George Foussekis (86) of Virginia Tech is bemoaning blocked punt that bounded beyond end zone for a safety, just when he had a touchdown in sight. Didn't matter, because Wake Forest bowed, 12-3.

starting with new uniforms, a new defensive system and an attempt to instill spirit into a squad that's short on personnel.

William and Mary, second in the league in '65, with its first winning season in 13 years, brings back 18 lettermen. The Indians' young squad (44 sophomores) will concentrate on defense, anchored by veteran line-

Lou Saban, back in college coaching at Maryland, starts with 35 letter-winners, including top ground-gainer Tom Hickey, who was ineligible in 1965. Six other offensive and eight defensive starters are on hand, among them fullback Walt Marciniak, linemen Tom Cichowski, Lorie McQueen and Ron Nalewak, and receivers Dick Absher and Bob Collins.

Clemson Coach Frank Howard has 34 lettermen back, including eight starters on both offense and defense, and the Tigers should improve despite a tough schedule. Top players are Butch Sursavage, Joey Branton, Joe Waldrep, Harry Olszewski, Wayne Mass, Wayne Bell and Phil Rogers.

Virginia set school passing records last year, but Coach George Blackburn is hoping for more wins this year. Halfback-quarterback Bob Davis, one of the nation's most versatile players, heads the 19 returning lettermen. Others are Kenny Poates, Carroll Jarvis, Stan Kemp and Ed Carrington on offense, Don Parker, Randall Harris, George Stetter and Dennis Borchers on the defensive squad.

Wake Forest, last in the league in 1965, is talking first division despite the loss of 10 lettermen and the return of only 18. Fullback David Smith, quarterbacks Kenny Hauswald and Jon Wilson give the Deacs strength in the backfield, while several linemen also return.

Junior tailback Garrett Ford, 13th in national rushing last year, heads the list of returnees at West Virginia, where new mentor Jim Carlen is JUGGLER?—Not really. Auburn's Tom Lunceford did try to punt with his foot and not with his head, as it appears, but his effort was foiled by Tennessee linebacker Tom Fisher. The blocked kick led to a touchdown in 13-all deadlock.

backers Adin Brown, Terry O'Toole and all-loop Bob Gadkowski. Quarterbacks Dan Darragh and Mike Madden also return.

Rebuilding is the word at George Washington, where 15 lettermen return. The top-touted Colonial is all-conference defensive back Tom Metz, who also scored seven touchdowns and led the club in receiving.

East Carolina can't expect to improve on its third straight 8-1 mark, due to a tougher schedule and the fact that the entire starting backfield is gone. Twenty lettermen and 20 sophomores are available.

A pair of experienced quarterbacks, Jake Jacobsen and Jimmy Poole, head a list of 22 lettermen at Davidson. While the experienced talent may be thin, sophomores on hand could help.

Virginia Military's chances of reversing last year's 3-7 mark depend on 23 returning lettermen and the same number of sophomores, Southpaw Hill Ellett, top passer in the conference last year, heads the attack. All-league linebacker Bob Schmalzreidt is also back.

The Citadel, 2-8 last year, has a new coach (Red Parker) and better prospects with 17 lettermen available. Richmond, winless in '65, has a new coach (Frank Jones), 22 lettermen and Notre Dame transfer quarterback Buster O'Brien. Furman (5-5) will try to win with desire and hustle rather than recruited talent.

Among the independents, Miami paints the prettiest picture, although the loss of quarterback Bob Biletznikoff to a baseball bonus didn't help. But junior Bill Miller, who threw nine TD passes last year, does return.

Miami had a young club in '65 and compiled a 5-4-1 mark, beating Florida, Houston and Syracuse and tying Notre Dame. The Hurricanes, with 31 lettermen available, are a well-balanced club that boasts one of the nation's top defensive backs in Tom Beier. Jerry Daanen and James Cox are ace receivers, while Doug McGee is a good runner.

Georgia Tech, despite the presence of its entire first-string backfield—including Gator Bowl stars Lenny Snow and Kim King—isn't putting out preseason championship notices, as defensive weaknesses still exist. Coach

Bobby Dodd may make personnel changes on a club that has eight offensive and seven defensive regulars returning.

Although Florida State has a tougher slate and defensive weaknesses, the Seminoles should be better than last year, when they posted a 4-5-1 record. Florida State will throw the ball more often and feature a wide-open attack. Fullback Jim Mankins and halfbacks Bill Moreman and Larry Green should make the offense go.

With the loss of only seven seniors from last season's 7-3 club, Virginia Tech could be loaded, as some good sophomores join 29 returning lettermen. Twelve of 14 defensive lettermen are back, including George Foussekis, Sands Woody and Frank Loria, while offensive stars could be Tommy Francisco, Dickie Longerbeam, Gene Fisher, Ken Barefoot and senior quarterback Tommy Stafford.

At Southern Mississippi, Coach Pie Vann has just 18 lettermen to help with his roughest schedule ever which includes games with Alabama, Mississippi, Mississippi State and Memphis State. The Southerners led the nation in total defense last season and posted a 7-2 mark, but need more offensive punch. Linebacker Ken Avery, end Tommy Roussell, safety Bill Devrow and end Troy Craft could get all-star recognition.

Twenty-seven of 39 lettermen return at Memphis State, but the loss of quarterback Billy Fletcher, who broke 13 school records, and split end Bob Sherlag, who shattered 10, will be felt. Six fullbacks and halfbacks do return and the Tigers should improve on their 5-5 record.

With a lighter slate and new Coach Jim Pittman, Tulane hopes to climb. The 23 lettermen are led by southpaw quarterback Bobby Duhon, safety Jim Jancik and ends Jerry Colquette and Lanis O'Steen.

Chattanooga lost only four starters and Coach Scrappy Moore, in his 40th year of coaching, says things look bright.

Runnerup in the OVC the past two years, Austin Peay hopes that the old adage "third time is charm" will come to pass in 1966. Seventeen lettermen return including five all-OVC performers. Coach Bill Dupes will count heavily on fullback John Ogles, end Ronnie Parson and linebacker Bobby Byrd.

Defending champion Middle Tennessee will again be a title contender if Coach Charles Murphy can come up with a quarterback. Fullback Larry Mathews and end Herb Owenby can make the offense go and tackles Frank Victory and Bobby Langford will give the Blue Raiders a stout defense.

Tennessee Tech could be the surprise team this year. Coach Willburn Tucker's Golden Eagles finished strong last season and junior quarterback Tommy Van Tone will be back along with two fine sophomore running backs, fullback Joe Raleigh and halfback Terry Parks.

Morehead may be its strongest in years but Coach Guy Penny needs a quarterback to go with such standouts as end Scotty Reddick, halfbacks Tommy Gray and Joe Cox, tackle Paul Conner and linebacker deluxe Gary Virden.

Western Kentucky will rely heavily on sophomores Dickie Moore, who set an OVC rushing record with 1,055 yards, and quarterback Mike Egan.

Eastern Kentucky could improve on its third-place finish if Coach Roy Kidd can find some backs to go with sophomore quarterback Jim Guice. Coach Don Shelton has a rebuilding job at Murray State but has a fine nucleus in quarterback Toby Tomason, backs John Bryant and Joe Meade, center Lloyd Harris and linebacker Tony Sims. New coach John Robert Bell at East Tennessee can build around sophomore quarterback Bobby Meade, defensive back Ron Overbay, end Johnny Russaw and center Gary Phillips.

CATCH A FOE BY THE TOE or anywhere else you can grab him when he has the ball. Acting on this bit of advice, Middle Tennessee defender Pat Morrison puts period to progress by Eastern Kentucky pass receiver Jim Ratliff. MT won, 14-10.

SEE WHAT HAPPENS when every lineman carries out his assignment? Then all a quarterback like Bill Zloch of Notre Dame has to do is dart through the hole. But Purdue showed it could execute just a bit better while outlasting the Irish, 25-21.

By BUCK TURNBULL

Sports Writer, The Des Moines Register

It has become almost axiomatic in the rugged Big Ten Conference that going to the Rose Bowl one year means a skid into the boondocks the following season. But can this possibly happen to tough and talented Michigan State, which figures to make another strong run for Big Ten and national laurels despite a strong challenge from Purdue?

Buck Turnbull

History tells us the answer very definitely is yes. Even though the Spartans return two-thirds of their 44-player Rose Bowl squad, including four All-Americans, the biggest burden they must bear in 1966 is the success they enjoyed in 1965.

Champions rarely repeat in the Big Ten's annual "cannibal carnival." Only Ohio State (1954 and '55) has been able to do it in the last 15 years, and seven of the 10 conference members have won or shared the crown since 1960.

Sometimes the post-Rose Bowl plunge is unbelievable. For proof, Coach Duffy Daugherty's Spartans need look no further back than last season, when state rival Michigan slid to seventh place after winning the 1964 championship and the Pasadena trip.

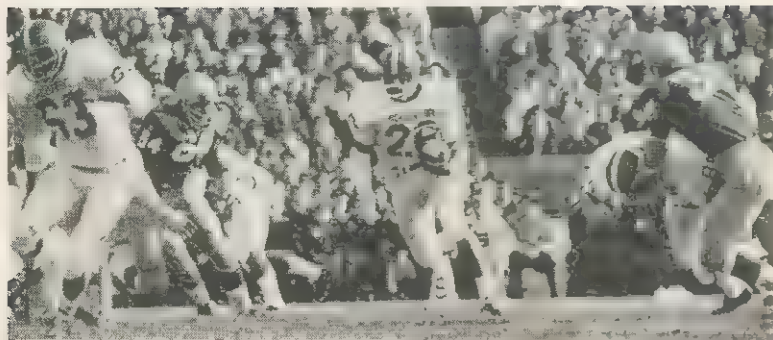

"Yes, the year-after-the-Rose-Bowl problem is real," fun-loving Daugherty says seriously. "The Rose Bowl is a strong motivating factor. We'll try to make our squad realize that the conference championship is incentive enough to play just as hard as we did last season."

Just half as hard might scare some teams. Michigan State overpowered 10 straight opponents and led the nation in defense against rushing, tossing back Michigan to minus 51 yards and Ohio State to minus 22 on successive Saturdays. The Spartans seemingly had the national title clinched after smothering Notre Dame's running attack, 12-3, but were forced to share the prize when UCLA upset them in the Rose Bowl, 14-12.

Since Michigan State and Notre Dame again appear to be the Midwest's best—although dangerous Purdue has a chance to derail them both in the first half of the schedule—the Spartans and Irish might wind up in another late-season showdown at East Lansing on November 19.

In the Mid-American Conference, co-champions Bowling Green and Miami once again look like the teams to beat.

Nearly every Big Ten team, and Notre Dame, needs to uncover a good quarterback. But Purdue has All-America Bob Griese.

ROOM TO ZOOM—He's only a junior, but halfback Clinton Jones of Michigan State knows where he's going and how to get there. The speedy Spartan raced 28 yards on this play and later drove over from the 3 in State's 12-3 win over Notre Dame.

Daugherty must replace graduated Steve Juday from among Jimmy Raye, last year's No. 2 quarterback, and promising sophomores Charley Wedemeyer, Bob Super and Bill Feraco. Although a squat 5 feet 7, Wedemeyer rates as an outstanding pass-run threat. His brother Herman was an All-America back at St. Mary's of California 20 years ago.

Knee surgery to fullback Bob Apisa leaves another question mark, and the Spartans also will have to reconstruct their defense with the loss of four of the huge five-man forward wall that held 10 opponents to just 45.6 yards per game rushing. But Daugherty has plenty to smile about, like the return of no less than four All-Americans—halfback Clinton Jones, ends Gene Washington and Bubba Smith and defensive back George Webster. And Dick Kenney, whose place-kicking accounted for 53 points (20 PATs and 11 FGs) last season, brings back his bare foot.

After quickly restoring the old enthusiasm and winning tradition at Notre Dame with 9-1 and 7-2-1 seasons, Coach Ara Parseghian might find his own amazing act a little hard to follow. But bruising runners Nick Eddy and Larry Conjar form a strong nucleus on attack (they combined for 1,107 yards last year), and some swift sophomores should ease the departure of three-year veteran halfback Bill Wolski.

If an expert passer emerges to loosen the defenses, there may be no stopping the Irish. Leading quarterback candidates are junior Tom Schoen and a blue-chip sophomore from California, Coley O'Brien.

Notre Dame's defense against rushing ranked fifth in the country last year and will be brutal again with the return of such hefty senior stalwarts as Alan Page (230), Harry Alexander (240), Pete Duranko (230), Tom Regner (245), plus burly Kevin Hardy (270), who was injured early last fall. All the linebackers check in again, too, headed by captain Jim Lynch, but a new defensive secondary must be whipped into shape.

A preliminary evaluation of the Big Ten splits the league into two divisions. Five teams have apparent title potential: Michigan State, Purdue, Illinois, Ohio State and Michigan. And this could mean Michigan State has another problem in striving to win two in a row, since it plays its four chief challengers on consecutive Saturdays in October.

It's doubtful if Northwestern, Indiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin or Iowa will have the manpower to jump into the championship stream. The league usually comes up with a surprise club or two, however, and Northwestern and possibly Indiana may be the ones best equipped to surprise.

Ohio State was 7-2 a year ago and finished runnerup to Michigan State, but the Buckeyes suffered heavy personnel losses and there might be a tendency to overlook them except nobody can overlook Woody Hayes' fabulous conference record (70-21-6 in 15 years). You can bet the dean of Big Ten coaches will have a well-drilled team in the thick of the fight.

Gone are All-America linebacker Ike Kelley, backs Don Unverferth, Tom Barrington and Willard Sander and 10 others of the top 22. Halfback Bo Rein, center Ray Pryor, and ends Bill Anders and Dick Himes head the returnees. Hayes also has classy sophomores Gerald Ehrsam, Terry Ervin, Mike Kafury, Rudy Smith and Glenn Hodge ready for the backfield.

Bob Griesse led the league in passing and total offense, accounting for more than half of Purdue's points last season (128 of 227) by scoring four touchdowns, passing for 11 and kicking five field goals and 23 PATs. Halfback Jim Finley and end Jim Beirne will help Griesse keep the attack rolling, while halfbacks George Catavolos and John Charles spearhead a defensive platoon that has eight starters returning.

Despite the loss of All-America fullback Jim Grabowski, Illinois could figure prominently in the race with its league home opener against Michigan State on October 1 a crucial one. Seventeen of Coach Pete Elliott's 25 returning lettermen are linemen. The Illini can start veterans at every position on offense and defense, and they boast the league's leading passer-receiver in John Wright. Junior Rich Erickson is heir-apparent to quarter-

C'MON, CLOWNS, THE FOOTBALL! Using Jon Eickstead (88) as a ball, Indiana's Ken Kaczmarek (61) and John Durkott (22) seem to be playing catch instead of trying to stop pass to Kansas State's Art Strozier (80). Anyway, Hoosiers won, 19-7.

Muskingum muscled its way to the top of the Ohio Conference in 1965 with solid line play and a stingy defense, and again should be tough to beat. The Muskies, who snapped Wittenberg's four-year hold on first place, return big tackle Mark DeVilling, the most valuable lineman in the conference.

Wittenberg and Akron, tied for second last year, should be in the running again, with Akron boasting the league total-offense leader, Mike Martin.

Mount Union and Capital both fielded greatly improved teams last season and may put more pressure on the usual front-runners, while Denison and Baldwin-Wallace rate consideration as dark-horse contenders. Wooster, Otterbein and Hiram are all question marks with Wooster missing departed Rod Dingle, the league's most valuable back and rushing and scoring champion.

Ohio Wesleyan, Heidelberg, Oberlin, Kenyon and Marietta have the potential to move out of the second division and make a serious charge at the leaders.

It looks as if 1966 will be another year for bird-hunting in the ICC, where Ball State's Cardinals again are ready to feather their nest.

Back for the undefeated champions are a block of seasoned veterans, including All-ICC defensive performers Bob Coatie, Chuck Streetman and George Hathaway and offensive guard Ray McDonald, plus quarterback Frank Houk, the MVP in the 14-14 tie with Tennessee State in the Grantland Rice Bowl.

At Indiana State new head coach Jerry Huntsman must rebuild an offensive interior line and a backfield. Huntsman has his centers, ends and quarterback Mike Hoke returning to preserve the Sycamores' passing attack.

The ICC's leading passer and all-conference quarterback, Duffy Hagist, is on hand to help St. Joseph's continue its climb under coach Jim Arneberg. Hagist can throw to his favorite ends, Mike Sheahan and Randy Traugh, but how well the Pumas fare depends much on upcoming underclassmen.

Evansville, which lost only seven of last season's 37 players, is one of the ICC's question marks. The Aces count on quarterbacks Dick Minnette and Joe Loge plus top ground-gainer Alan Per.

Valparaiso, a passing team in recent years, returns junior quarterback Jim Dimitri, but the Crusaders must come up with some ball-carriers to replace halfback Jim Larson, fourth in league rushing last season.

Big holes at tackle bother DePauw, which finished in the cellar in 1965. A few talented sophomores will help, and the Tigers bring back the same backfield—Tim Feemster, John Butler and Percy Hargrove, and quarterbacks Eric Lortz and Dan Breckenridge. Fifteen lettermen head Butler's entry, but the Bulldogs lost eight starters including quarterback Joe Purichia, top rusher Dave Enright and leading scorer Dick Dullaghan.

FIRST ONE TO IT CAN HAVE IT—There are no strings attached to this upright football, and eager linebacker Don Hansen (32) of Illinois and Southern Methodist quarterback Mac White (10) know it. Hansen won race. Illinois won rout, 42-0.

Carthage, runnerup a year ago, and third-place North Central are primed for title honors in the 1966 CCI race. The Redmen's top returnees are all-league guard Ron Reeves, defensive back Don Lahti and 215-pound fullback Tom Fugette. North Central lists all-conference ends Dick Janzaruk and Pat Collier and fullback Dick Morris as its key returnees. The Cardinals finished with the best total offense average in the league in 1965 (323.2 yards) and the tightest defensive average (163.7 yards allowed).

Defending champion Illinois Wesleyan still has all-league quarterback Steve Laub, but Augustana must find a replacement for halfback Johnny Coy.

Carroll, which had a young team last fall, has a good chance of escaping the second division while Millikin, under a new head coach, and North Park, are again faced with rebuilding years.

St. John's, undefeated for the second time in three years in 1965, appears to be a strong favorite again in the MIAC race.

Led by two small-college All-Americans, tackle Fred Cremer and defensive back Pat Whalin, the Johnnies are trying for their fourth league championship in five years. St. Thomas, led by all-conference quarterback John Burke, should be close behind while Concordia, last year's runnerup, and Augsburg are other possible first-division entrants.

Ripon has won or shared three straight Midwest Conference championships and it appears that the Redmen will again be the favorites.

However, Ripon may get a little pressure from as many as six other teams—Coe, Grinnell, Beloit, St. Olaf, Lawrence and Carleton. All were either sophomore-dominated last season or have top-notch veterans returning.

Gone are the top three scorers in the conference—Cornell's Rick Schimmel, Ripon's Doug Bradley and Beloit's Ray Niznik, respectively—but six of the top 10 point-makers return for 1966.

Beloit brings back both quarterbacks Rick Stutz and Mike Phillips—while Ripon returns quarterback Dick Kuehl and the No. 2 college-division kick-scorer, Carl Dean, who booted 20 PATS and eight field goals last season.

Other top Midwest Conference scorers back for 1966 are quarterback Chuck McKee of Lawrence, fullbacks Rick Levinson of Carleton and Dave Lamb of Grinnell and quarterback Paul Anderson and halfback Dave Krahn of St. Olaf.

Kalamazoo has more returnees than the other challengers, but Hope finished last last year and appears to be stronger this season. Alma showed great improvement in 1965 and the Scots, as well as Olivet and Adrian, appear to be capable of springing some surprises this season.

Northern Illinois, the IIAA champion in 1965, is now playing an independent schedule, leaving the door open for runnerup Central Michigan.

Central Michigan, a team which won its last four games last year and finished with a 5-5 record, returns 38 lettermen, including six all-league performers, headed by double-duty senior lineman Paul Verska.

Western Illinois lost its backfield and some promising freshmen and has a young and inexperienced eleven this year. Eastern Illinois misses ace quarterback Roger Haberer, but returns some good linemen and backs, led by fullback Ken Heffley. Illinois State has 20 lettermen returning, including quarterback Jerry Kinnikin, who passed for 1,273 yards as a sophomore.

Unless another darkhorse contender can break out of the pack early, the 1966 Presidents' Athletic Conference race could go down to the wire.

In 1965, champion Bethany, jumped off to a fast start and had the crown wrapped up before the rest of the league could get moving. The Bisons again top the list of favorites, followed by John Carroll, Washington and Jefferson and Allegheny.

Thiel and Western Reserve both have new head coaches, Jim McCullough and Ed Lewis respectively, and Case Tech is just beginning to see the results of its multiple "A" offense. Wayne State and Eastern Michigan have resigned from the league since last season.

Sparking Bethany should be junior All-PAC defensive back Tom Abraham, who scored 32 points as an offensive back in 1965, and finished in a second-place tie in league scoring.

Back for John Carroll are all-league end Sal Catanese, tackles Don Kelsey and Phil Hinko, linebacker Bill Ryan and safety Phil Giacinti. Washington and Jefferson looks to All-PAC end Jim Stasik and tackle Jim Herring.

Other all-conference choices returning this fall are halfback Larry Berry from Thiel and defensive halfback Al Cook of Case Tech. The only record-holder back to defend a crown is Thiel's split end Norm Madera, who caught 14 passes for 334 yards last season.

IT'S A GAME OF INCHES—Never more than inches away from disaster, Missouri's Gary Lane dances down sidelines past Nebraska's Jerry Patton, Bill Johnson and Larry Wachholtz on 22-yard touchdown run. Cornhuskers rallied for crucial 16-14 victory.

By JIM WEEKS

Sports Editor, The Norman (Okla.) Transcript

This may be the year of the quarterback in the Missouri Valley.

If Bob Churchich, who was a standout as a sophomore in 1964, has another first-rate season, Nebraska should claim its fourth straight Big Eight Conference championship in 1966.

And if Tulsa Coach Glenn Dobbs, the nation's foremost college exponent of the aerial game, can continue to come up with the country's top passing quarterback, as he did with Jerry Rhome in 1964 and Bill Anderson in 1965, the Golden Hurricane could repeat as Missouri Valley Conference ruler.

The quarterbacks may be particularly vital in the conference races because there appears to be little, if any, midground. There are either proven performers back or untried ones.

Jim Weeks

Nebraska rules as a solid favorite in the Big Eight, with five offensive starters and seven defensive regulars from last year's team that posted the school's first unbeaten regular-season record since 1915.

Although Nebraska bowed to Alabama in the Orange Bowl, Cornhusker fans received some future encouragement from that contest. Churchich, who had played behind since-graduated Fred Duda most of the season, came off the bench and threw three touchdown passes in a futile attempt to catch the Crimson Tide. Even without Churchich, Nebraska probably would be the preseason choice as the best team in the Missouri Valley.

The Huskers lost both starting offensive tackles and ends, but many observers feel that with power running backs such as "Lighthorse" Harry Wilson, Ron Kirkland, Charles Winters, Ben Gregory and Pete Tatman, Nebraska won't need much of a line. All-conference guard LaVerne Allers does return and should lead the overhauled line.

Nebraska has fewer problems on defense, where only All-America tackle Walt Barnes is missing from last year's line. The Cornhuskers' top defensive back is all-conference safety Larry Wachholtz, who finished second nationally in punt returns, running back 31 punts for 452 yards.

If the right replacements cannot be found among the 34 returning lettermen, Coach Bob Devaney may call on such sophomore prospects as 6-foot-7, 225-pound quarterback Frank Patrick, running backs Tom Penney and Dick Davis and line twins Joe and Sam Buda.

Despite the loss of seven offensive starters, including the prolific passing combination of quarterback Bill Anderson and All-America end Howard Twilley, Tulsa could have another record-smashing season in 1966 if the Golden Hurricane can rebuild its graduation-depleted line.

Coach Glenn Dobbs' offensive starters returning are guard Mike Minnig, tackle Don Bandy (6-3, 250), fullback Gene Lakusiak and wingback Neal Sweeney, who ranked third nationally in 1965 with 78 pass receptions. Wingback Brent Roberts, who missed last season with a knee injury, will move into Twilley's split end spot, but Dobbs must come up with a quarterback from among six candidates, including his son, Glenn 3rd (6-6, 205), who also missed '65 with an injury.

The other quarterback hopefuls are holdover Gary Collett, sophomores Mike Stripling and Paul Hull and transfers Greg Barton and Steve Bridgforth. Stripling completed 113 passes in five freshmen games, and Barton was a top junior-college passer for two years.

Only two defensive starters return—All-Missouri Valley halfback Chuck Hardt and safety Gary Berchtold. Top defensive line prospects are tackles Joe Blake (6-3, 303) and Bob Joswick (6-5, 261) and end Ian MacDonald.

Missouri ranked in the same class with Nebraska and Tulsa last season. The Tigers had a 7-2-1 record, bowing to Kentucky in its opener, tying UCLA's Rose Bowl champions, frightening Nebraska before losing, 16-14, and winning a close 20-18 decision over Florida in the Sugar Bowl.

But Coach Dan Devine's team lacks not only a quarterback, but also offensive linemen. Gary Lane, three-time all-league quarterback, is gone, and untried prospects for his job are redshirt Connie Deneault, holdover Gary Kombrink, sophomore Danny Sharp and transfer Ken Brumley.

Top returnees are halfbacks Charlie Brown, who led the conference in rushing last season, and Earl Denny, linebackers Rich Bernsen and Bob Biegler and defensive end Russ Washington.

TRAFFIC DIRECTOR Fred Duda of Nebraska points the way as teammate Larry Wachholtz, the nation's No. 2 punt returner, runs back Colorado kick 60 yards. Quarterback Duda also directed undefeated team to 38-13 win with a TD run and two TD passes.

Colorado, which surprised many by finishing third in the conference last year, may be considered Nebraska's only other strong challenger. The Buffaloes shook off the effects of three straight losing seasons and posted a 6-2-2 record, bowing decisively only to the Cornhuskers. The comeback won Eddie Crowder Big Eight coach-of-the-year honors.

Colorado's forte remains its defense, which returns 10 of last year's starters, led by end Sam Harris and backs Hale Irwin and Charles Greer. The Buffaloes also have quarterback Bernie McCall, who passed for 1175 yards and ran for 252, returning along with the rest of the offensive backfield, including junior tailback William Harris. But some gaps must be filled in the Colorado offensive line.

There's high hope that Oklahoma may return as a contender under new Coach Jim Mackenzie. Mackenzie, the only new major-college coach in the Missouri Valley, inherits a team that lost only seven seniors but won only three games. Top players are tackle Jim Riley, halfback Ron Shotts, end Ben Hart, and defensive aces Grauville Liggins and Eugene Ross.

Oklahoma must find a quarterback among junior Gene Cagle, a part-time starter who directed the Sooners to all three victories last year, redshirt Jim Bugar and slick ballhandler Chebon Dacon.

Kansas will be trying to bounce back from its first losing season (2-8) since 1958, the year Jack Mitchell first became coach, with quarterback Bob Skahan providing some help. An unproven defensive unit that gained experience last year and sophomore halfback flash Don Shanklin should also help improve this year's outlook.

Oklahoma State, which ended its 3-7 season last year by defeating arch-rival Oklahoma (17-16) for the first time since 1945, returns an experienced defensive unit, but must rebuild its attack.

The Cowboys' losses include all-conference fullback Walt Garrison, place-kicker Charles Durkee, all-league guard Charles Harper and tackle Hugh McCrabb. Top returnees are offensive linemen Harold Akin and J. B.

WHOW! If Oklahoma State fullback Walt Garrison had any hopes of going places on this carry, Iowa State tackle Wayne Tenders quickly dashed them by lassoing the Cowboy star in his tracks. Iowa State came from behind for 14-10 victory.

LET ME AT 'EM—Kansas State tackle Phil King has to be held back as he tries to zero in on tiny targets—Kansas' 160-pound Dan Miller (23) and Bill Fenton, at 150 the lightest major-college quarterback of '65. But Kansas crushed K-State, 34-0.

Christian, defensive tackle Dennis Randall and defensive backs Harry Cheatwood and Jerry Gill.

Iowa State, also a surprise last year when it finished fourth in the Big Eight and posted a 5-4-1 record, and Kansas State, which will be trying to climb out of the cellar, both have experienced quarterbacks.

The Cyclones' Tim Var Calder led the conference in passing with 1418 yards gained. Van Calder, Eppie Barney, the conference's top receiver and Tom Busch, third among league receivers, could give the offense spark, but the defense must hold together for Coach Clay Stapleton.

Kansas State Coach Doug Weaver returns 20 lettermen, but only six started on offense and only three were defensive regulars on last year's 0-10 team. Top returnees are quarterback Vic Castillo, the third leading passer in the Big Eight, and the team's leading rusher, Henry Howard.

Among Missouri Valley Conference teams, North Texas State returns seven offensive and eight defensive starters from last year's 3-7 team. The Eagles' chief offensive weapons again should be quarterback Vidal Carlin and receiver John Love, both fourth-ranked nationally last year in their specialties. Carlin had 159 completions for 1723 yards and 12 touchdowns and Love caught 76 passes for 994 yards, and also scored 69 points.

Coach Odus Mitchell's Eagles hope junior-college transfers and tackle Lindy Endsley will help mend the nation's leakiest defense, which allowed 312 points in 10 games last season.

Cincinnati, the Missouri Valley champion in 1964, slipped to a 5-5 season record last year, and continues rebuilding.

Quarterbacks Tony Jackson and Mike Flaherty shared the starting role last season, and Coach Charles Studley will continue the alternating play this year. Sophomores Paul Walker, a guard, and linebacker Mike Barrett, may add strength to the Bearcat defense.

Wichita State will try to climb out of the cellar, after finishing with a 2-7 record in George Karras' first year as head coach.

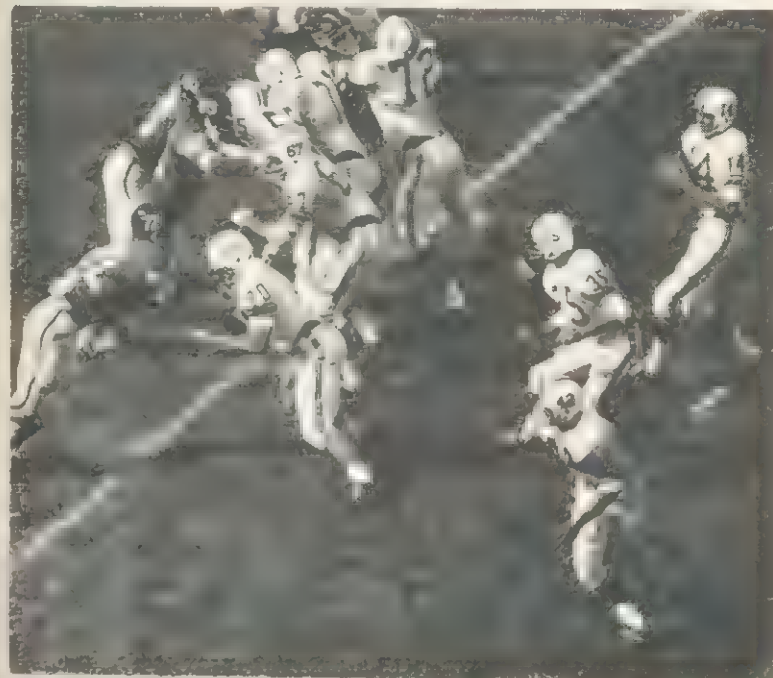

Linebacker Jim Waskiewicz and quarterback Lou Confessori are gone, but the Shockers should be boosted by the return of tackle Earl Edwards and junior-college transfers—end Art Smith and tackle Ron Virns. Larry Argersinger, sophomore lineman of the year in '65, also returns.

Louisville, second in the Missouri Valley in 1965, brings back quarterback Benny Russell, 13th nationally last year with 115 completions and 11 TD tosses, and top receivers—halfback Mike Dennis and end Jim Zamberlan.

Coach Darrell Mudra is gone, but North Dakota State is the odds-on favorite to repeat as North Central Conference champion. Ranked as the nation's No. 1 college-division team in 1965, the Bison could be even better this year.

Should North Dakota State falter, look to the University of North Dakota, a club still replaying its only 1965 loss, a 6-3 decision to the Bison.

Mudra has been replaced by Ron Erhardt, who has 32 returning lettermen. Losses were few, and the upcoming freshmen will add size and depth. Halfback Ken Rota should repeat as a Little All-America, with end Lowell Linderman also an All-America candidate.

At North Dakota, Coach Marv Helling has lost three outstanding receivers among nine missing lettermen. However, record-breaking quarterback Corey Colehour returns along with 26 other lettermen, aiming to climb one notch.

Augustana will have 23 returning lettermen, paced by outstanding quarterback Gary Sandbo. Coach Jim Malmquist will have a squad dominated by juniors, along with several key sophomores, and could mount a challenge.

Two losing seasons have not set well with veteran South Dakota State Coach Ralph Ginn. Bolstering 18 lettermen will be the best balanced sophomore group in years. Replacing quarterback Ron Meyer will be a big job.

State College of Iowa lost both quality and quantity. Gone are 16 lettermen including two-time Little All-America fullback Randy Schultz. Coach Stan Sheriff has 15 lettermen back, including eight defensive starters, but the offense must be rebuilt.

Morningside keeps its experienced and balanced backfield, but needs help in the offensive line. Coach Dewey Halford, with 20 lettermen returning, has a dangerous club with capable passers and a number of running backs.

University of South Dakota, with new coach Joe Salem, will hope to avoid the avalanche of injuries that destroyed a potentially good 1965 team. At least 23 lettermen are available for the Coyote effort to climb out of the cellar.

HEY, MAN, STAND OFF MY HEAD!—John Freidenfeld (89) doesn't seem to care whose head he has to tread on to block an extra-point kick. But North Dakota State center Andy Quinn (53) was consoled since NDS walked on UW Milwaukee, 59-20.

Northeast Missouri State, defending champion in the MIAA, again figures to be the team to beat in 1966. Southwest Missouri State, the 1965 runnerup, looms as the Bulldogs' chief threat to the title.

The high-scoring NE Missouri Bulldogs return three players from the MIAA all-league offensive team—quarterback Rich Gorzynski, halfback Sharron Washington and end John Newcomb. With a talented nucleus of lettermen back on both offense and defense, the Bulldogs could be even better than last year.

Southwest Missouri State, which lost only to Northeast Missouri in league play last season, lost much of its offensive punch but returns Pat Hogan, one of the nation's finest fullbacks. Hogan also ranked seventh among the nation's college-division punters in 1965. Defensively, the Bears should rank among the league's best.

The other four MIAA elevens should also be improved, especially University of Missouri at Rolla, which returns most of its regulars.

THE SOUTHWEST

By ORVILLE HENRY

Sports Editor, The Arkansas Gazette

They've redrawn the battle lines in the Southwest Conference. The eyes of Texas now face Arkansas, the one-time pesky flash-in-the-pan that has mushroomed into a national powerhouse.

Coach Frank Broyles' Razorbacks have gone undefeated or lost only one league game in six of the last seven seasons, posting a 37-4 league mark (not counting a 3-4 year in 1963).

It is inevitable that the Razorbacks must fall, or at least slip a little. All the signs say, though, that the Texas teams will be chasing Arkansas at least one more year.

Orville Henry

Last year's Southwest Conference showdown came in October, when visiting Texas risked its 10-game win streak against Arkansas' own 16-game string in a nationally televised game, later described by sportswriters and broadcasters as the greatest game ever seen in the Southwest.

The Razorbacks cashed in on two Longhorn fumbles at the outset and grabbed a quick 20-0 lead. But Texas smashed back, putting up 24 points on two touchdowns and three field goals. With four minutes left in the game, the Razorbacks took over on their own 20-yard line, and marched 80 yards for the winning score. Quarterback Jon Brittenum sneaked over after All-America end Bobby Crockett made his fifth catch of the drive.

The loss crushed Texas, which dropped three of its next four games, and snuffed its first losing league campaign under Coach Darrell Royal.

Arkansas gained additional momentum and extended its winning streak to 22 games, before losing to LSU in the Cotton Bowl.

The demise of Texas did open the gates for two other challengers—Southern Methodist and Texas Tech. Both were in the race until the last two weeks of the season, when they each met Arkansas. SMU lost on the next-to-last weekend, 24-3. Tech could have won the title on the final day, but after the Red Raiders took a 17-7 lead, Arkansas stormed back with 35 straight points and won, 42-24.

If the "Beat Arkansas" battle plan should prove successful, any of four teams could take over the top spot. Baylor or Southern Methodist, if they can avoid long injury lists that have plagued them both recently, or Texas or Texas Christian, if either can hurry its rebuilding program. Texas Tech is a possible contender and Texas A&M hopes to become respectable. Rice faces a formidable non-conference schedule—LSU, UCLA and Tennessee—with a young squad that needs time to develop.

The Razorbacks lost six members of their top-notch offensive unit, but return an established senior quarterback who did everything last year and a 200-pound power-runner who averaged 7.7 yards per carry in his first season as an offensive performer.

The field general is Jon Brittenum, whose scrambling and sprint-out passing won the big games, and the running back is Harry Jones, who scored touchdowns four of the first five times he handled the ball.

Broyles must replace tailback Bobby Burnett, who lugged the ball 232 times for 947 yards and 16 touchdowns. Sophomore David Dickey, a top Texas schoolboy two years ago, is being groomed for the job.

Replacements are ready for everybody except Crockett, whose pass catches ruined two seasons for Texas. Tommy Burnett, Bobby's brother, and defensive halfback Tommy Trantham, will fight for Crockett's job.

Loyd Phillips, an All-America tackle as a junior, returns with six other regulars from the defensive platoon, including linebackers Joe Black and David Cooper. Broyles' platoon football last year produced 20 senior lettermen for 1966, compared with only 10 in '65.

By contrast, Texas Coach Royal experienced his first platoon practice situation last spring. Royal not only will use platoons in 1966, but he's also splitting an end and having quarterbacks Andy White and Bill Bradley throw to him. Darrell conditioned Texas fans for a passing game last fall, when his quarterbacks averaged 22 passes per game.

The Longhorns lost only seven seniors, and Coach Royal has solid war-horses in defensive guards Diron Talbert and John Elliott and offensive tackles Gene Bledsoe and Howard Goad. Greg Lott is the new wingback and Bradley lived up to his schoolboy rave notices in the spring: he's a good runner, a right-handed passer and a left-footed kicker who averaged 49 yards per boot as a freshman.

Baylor was off to a fine start last year until quarterback Terry Southall broke his leg in the third game. Without him, the Bears fell apart—his successors pitched six interceptions, good for five touchdowns, against Arkansas alone. Senior Southall (1623 passing yards as a sophomore) is the key in Coach John Bridgers' offense, and he'll get good running support from Richard Defee, Billy Hayes and Charles Wilson.

What the Bears need most, though, is help in the defensive secondary to match the aggressive work of defensive line mainstays Dwight Hood (6 foot 4, 230 pounds) and Greg Pipes (5-11, 228), plus end David Anderson and linebackers Randy Behringer and Billy Burk.

Abe Martin broke in a new backfield at Texas Christian last fall and has another set of sophomore backs in 1966. If enough quality linemen can be found, this could be the Frogs' first big year since 1959.

Halfback Steve Landon and Kenny Post, who earned their spurs last year, now will battle with rookies Norm Bulaich and Ross Montgomery. P. D. Shabay, last year's regular quarterback, underwent knee surgery and will be challenged by two sophomores.

Southern Methodist has won some big intersectional victories in the last four years, but consistency in the league has eluded it.

Coach Hayden Fry's 4-5-1 record in '65 was SMU's best since 1959, and their choice athletes—quarterback Mac White, fullback Jim Hagle, guard

POST WAR—It's really a boom time as All-America linebacker Tommy Nobis (60) of Texas crashes into Texas Christian and Sonny Campbell and breaks up pass play between the goal posts. Horned Frogs didn't need this TD as they hurdled Texas, 25-10.

John LaGrone, and linebacker Billy Bob Stewart—return.

J. T. King, the league's coach-of-the-year in 1965, has upgraded Texas Tech's program consistently. The Red Raiders bounced back from an early-season thrashing by Texas and won seven in a row, with a top-notch offense led by quarterback Tom Wilson and halfback Donny Anderson. But Tech's defensive unit never did solve its problems last season.

The Raiders retain an all-round threat in Mike Lemert, but Gny Griffiths and John Stovell, both defensive backs in 1965, must develop at quarterback. Most of the offensive linemen return, headed by guard Phil Tucker, who may also help at linebacker this season.

Texas A&M won only three games last year in Coach Gene Stallings' debut, and he hopes for improvement with sophomore Rolf Krueger (6-5, 238), alongside defensive tackle Mo Moorman (6-5, 248) and junior quarterback Harry Ledbetter heading the offensive attack.

Rice upset Texas, 20-17, last year, but finished with a 2-8 mark. Jess Neely starts his 27th year as the Owls' head coach needing help at quarterback and linebacker positions to climb higher.

Among the Southwest independents, Houston (4-5-1) hopes for continued improvement with halfback Warren McVea sparking the attack. As a sophomore last year, McVea started slowly, but against Mississippi the San Antonio speedster got behind the Rebel defenders twice for 80 and 84-yard touchdown passes. McVea scored two more touchdowns in the remaining two games (including a 92-yard kickoff return against Florida State), and Coach Bill Yeoman looks for more of the same this fall.

The independent to watch will be Texas Western, revived by Coach Bobby Dobbs last year when sophomore Billy Stevens emerged as the nation's No. 2 passer (196 completions for 3,042 yards and 21 TDs). Stevens' supporting cast will include nine returning offensive starters, among them ace receiver Chuck Hughes, second nationally in pass receiving in '65, plus six defensive starters. Texas Western finished with a 7-3 season record, and then nipped Texas Christian, 13-12, in the Sun Bowl.

West Texas State will try to improve on its 6-4 mark with 15 returning regulars, including quarterback Hank Washington (6-3, 200), the nation's 12th-ranked passer last year, and Dave Gasser, a fine linebacker.

Offensive genius Warren Woodson must rebuild his defense at New Mexico State, but the Aggies' attack, responsible for an 8-2 mark last season, features senior tailback Jim Bohl, No. 3 in national rushing last year with 1187 yards (6.5 per carry), and junior Mike Carroll, the eighth-leading punt-return artist in 1965.

"Uneasy is the head that wears the crown" sums up the feeling at Grambling. Coach Eddie Robinson lost nine men, including three Little All-Americans. Enough talent remains, however, to label Grambling as the team to beat in 1966.

Texas Southern's new coach, Clifford Paul, beat Prairie View, Grambling, Florida A&M and tied Southern U. last year. Add quarterback John Douglas and Roy Hopkins, who scored four TDs against A&M, and you have title potential.

After championship years under Billy Nicks in 1963 and 1964, Prairie View's new coach must develop a quarterback to hope for top consideration. Jackson State boasts a balanced attack and Lem Barney, the loop's best safety.

Arkansas AM&N will have a young team with Charlie Barnett leading the offense, but defensive replacements will be needed at linebacker. Craig Walker is still at Alcorn A&M, but end Robert Brown has graduated.

Defending champion Lamar Tech figures to be shooting for its third straight Southland Conference championship in 1966.

Quarterback Phil Primm, the most accurate passer in the league in 1965, hit 50.3 per cent and chalked up 1,002 yards and 10 TDs. He returns with his top target, Bill Kilgore, also the league's No. 1 punter. Other All-SLC returnees are defensive backs Dick Clayton and Jake David and tackle Ed Marcotelli.

Arlington State is expected to fill the airwaves with tosses from junior quarterback Carl Williams. The Rebels will also rely heavily on All-SLC center Bob Utley, defensive tackle Ken Ozee and linebacker Steve Jackson.

Trinity returns the league's No. 1 end from last year—Truman Franks (73 catches for 765 yards) and halfback Jackie Hall, both all-league selections.

Arlene Christian has 205-pound running back Mike Love and defensive back Tommy Young returning from the All-SLC team, while Arkansas State will rebuild around defensive back Dick Ritchey, sophomore sensation of 1965.

THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS

By JOHN MOONEY

Sports Editor, The Salt Lake City Tribune

Brigham Young, a surprise winner of its first conference title a year ago, faces a tough challenge in the Western Athletic Conference race, while the three top independents figure to have better teams. All in all, it's an optimistic picture for football in the Rocky Mountain plateaus this season.

John Mooney

The Cougars, with Coach Tom Hudspeth gaining the title and league coach-of-the-year honors in his second season, figure to be loaded for the defense of their WAC crown in 1966.

But Arizona, aided by a handful of transfers from Air Force; Arizona State, which finished as perhaps the strongest team in the league; Utah, with new coach Mike Giddings; New Mexico, rebounding from a disappointing year; and perennial favorite Wyoming, all could be rough.

The WAC plays a complete round-robin this fall for the first time in its five-year history, and thus should make the title race a little more coherent.

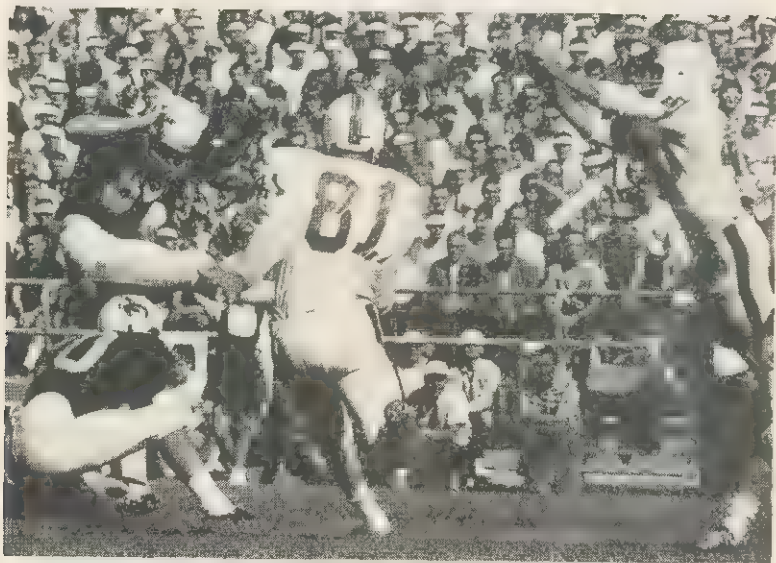

Among the independents, Air Force needs only a top quarterback to replace Paul Stein. Utah State looks for a breakaway back to replace Roy Shivers, who signed a pro contract with a year's eligibility left, and Colorado State needs experienced depth, to be top representatives.

The WAC teams had a "down" year in 1965, compared to 1964's fine interconference showing that was featured by Utah's Liberty Bowl win over West Virginia. Utah, Arizona and New Mexico, tri-champions the previous year, managed only nine victories in 30 games, and even champion Brigham Young had only a 6-4 overall record.

Here's how the individual teams shape up:

Brigham Young—The Cougars lost eight seniors, including four starting linemen, but record-setting quarterback Virgil Carter, WAC player-of-the-year and third nationally in total offense in 1965, is back along with ace pass-receiver Phil Odle. Linebacker Mel Olson returns after being sidelined by a knee operation last year. Redshirts Casey Boyett, a pass-catcher, and halfback Terry Rodrigue, also will be on hand.

Arizona—Eighteen junior-college and university transfers give Coach Jim LaRue experience and class, along with 22 lettermen, including 15 offensive or defensive starters. Five ex-Air Force players, ends Fritz Greenlee and Jim Greth, guard Mike Lanagan, center Bill Nemeth and halfback Paul YOU'D NEVER GUESS, from the photo, what happened to the football (arrow) place-kicked by Wyoming's Jerry DePoyster with Paul Toscano holding. It zipped past would-be Arizona blockers and through goal posts for Cowboy record 49-yard field goal.

Wargo, are joined by returning regular halfback Brad Hubbert and fullback Rick Johnson.

Arizona State—Two-way backfield star Ben Hawkins tops the list of 10 seniors missing, but 21 lettermen return, including the entire defensive line. With the rest of the offensive backfield and both ends back, plus the experience gained last year, the Sun Devils could be rough.

Utah—Coach Ray Nagel left for Iowa, but he left some good players for Mike Giddings. Jack Gehlke is the top quarterback prospect, while Ben Woodson, Gary Heard, Marv Lowery and Doug Wells head the other returning backs. Ends Mike Butera and Terry Baker, linebackers Tom Hawkes and Pat McKissick and tackle John Stipech are top linemen.

Wyoming—The Cowboys' key losses include quarterback Tom Wilkinson and Darryl Alleman, while the veteran backfield returnees are Jim Kiick, Mike Davenport, Jerry Marion, Don Klacking and Jerry Saffell.

New Mexico—The Lobos lost 14 lettermen, including two-way quarterback Stan Quintana. Defensive returnees are all-conference tackle Paul Smith, guard Rex Henington and end Emilio Vallez, and backs Larry Sampson, Tom Ledbetter and sprinter Bernie Rivers. Offensive backs are Carl Jackson, Carl Bradford, Joe Casas and Al O'Neal.

Air Force—Coach Ben Martin may have the makings of his best team in years, if a quarterback develops. The Falcons lost three-fourths of their backfield and need help at tackle, but 32 lettermen are on hand.

Colorado State—Loss of 20 seniors hit hard at offensive line and backfield, but offensive veterans returning include end Tom Pack, tackle Dale Stuby, quarterback Bob Wolfe and fullback Oscar Reed.

Utah State—Shivers is gone, but 19 of 22 offensive and defensive starters return from the Aggie squad that posted an 8-2 record in 1965. Quarterback Ron Edwards and receivers Dave Clark and Jim LeMoine are back, along with center Ken Ferguson and defensive stalwarts Spain Musgrove (265), Bill Staley (236) and Don Norris (215).

THE PACIFIC COAST

By DON FAIR

Sports Writer, The Portland Oregonian

There's a new pre-season look in the Athletic Association of Western Universities—Southern California is not the favorite. Give that ranking to the 1965 champion and Rose Bowl winner, UCLA.

As Southern California Coach Johnny McKay says, "The Bruins possess the two things needed to win the title—the exceptional quarterback and the great runner." In order, they are Gary Beban and Mel Farr, the most efficient players in the country last year in their specialties. Beban was tops in yards per pass attempt (10.2) and Farr led in yards per carry (7.0 on 112 carries).

Don Fair

Coach Tommy Prothro has 30 other lettermen returning as he tries to improve his record (71-39-3) and bids for his fifth league title.

Yet the well-organized, highly-specialized Prothro concedes, "We were hungry in 1965, but nobody's hungry after he's eaten."

Perhaps not, but Beban, in particular, will provide ample food for the Bruin football table. If toughness, the ability to lead and a knack for making the big play are All-America qualifications, the 6-foot-1, 190-pound junior fits the bill. As a sophomore, Beban led the AAWU in total offense (1,912 yards), passing yardage (1,336), finished second in scoring with 72 points on 12 touchdowns and passed for nine more TDs.

Farr, a 205-pound halfback, didn't get Beban's publicity, but destroyed rivals in his own manner, with 785 yards rushing.

Bruin defensive standouts are 6-2, 255-pound guard John Richardson and linebacker Dallas Grider. Top sophomore is 210-pound Rick Purdy, recruited as a quarterback, but moved to fullback because of Beban.

UCLA does have problems, though, at end and in the defensive backfield. But junior-college transfer Bob Biggs and 9.4 sprinter Harold Busby could solve the end situation. Andy Herrera is the lone holdover in the secondary, and a rookie, Mark Gustafson, may help. The offensive line returns tackles Larry Slagle and Rick Paul, center John Erquiaga and guard Rich Deakers, while the defense has experienced ends Wade Pearson and Erwin Dutcher, tackles Al Claman and Terry Donahue, guard Dick Donald and safety Tim McAteer.

Although Southern California has relinquished the role of favorite, the Trojans aren't limp. The league finale against UCLA could again determine the champion. McKay's needs include a quarterback, a runner to replace Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett and an offensive line.

Troy Winslow, one of 23 lettermen, returns at quarterback and will battle junior-college transfer Dick Hough and Toby Page. Garrett's understudy, Don McCall, or Leonard Sims or Wilson Bowie could provide the runner McKay needs. Slick Rod Sherman is back at the other halfback post and fullback Homer Williams returns after missing 1965.

The Trojan offensive line must undergo a complete overhaul. Sophomore Bob Klein and Rich Leon loom as end replacements and sophomores John Blanche and Calvin Carland rank as leading guard candidates.

Defensively, Southern California's strength includes 252-pound tackle Ron Yary, halfback Nate Shaw, end Ray May, 245-pound middle-guard Mike Scarpace and star linebacker Adrian Young.

While 1966 power is concentrated in Los Angeles, at least four other teams—Oregon State, Washington State, Washington and Stanford, perhaps in that order—could challenge in the best balanced race in years.

At Corvallis, Dec Andros has 25 lettermen, an outstanding crop of sophomores and an attack featuring fullback Pete Pifer and quarterback Paul Brothers. Pifer was the No. 5 rusher nationally in 1965 with 1,095 yards. Brothers took Oregon State to the Rose Bowl as a sophomore, but last year he lacked receivers and had only four touchdown passes.

This year, the Beavers have seven receivers who will double in the defensive backfield, including sophomores Jim Scheele, Dave Wachter, Steve Shaw, Ernie Joe Smith and Major Lincoln and junior-college transfers Ron Crawford and Bob Silvers. Otherwise, the familiar names are offensive linemen Mike Sullivan, Jim Wilkin, Jeff Hardrath, Craig Cording, Skip Diaz, Joe Reid, Dave Marlette, Al Frei, Rockne Freitas and Denny Hass and backs Fred Schweer and Bob Grim. The defensive returnees are Greg FANCY, THAT—One-handed interception by Oregon State's Tim Osmer, of a pass overthrown to Oregon's Steve Bunker (88), was one of four steals by eager Beavers in intrastate battle. Maybe crime does pay, because State collected a 19-14 victory.

ALL BUCKEYES' EYES UP—Ignoring Washington's Tom Greenlee (hurtling over shoulders of Will Sander and Greg Lashutka) and Dave Dillon (21), Ohio Staters have eyes only for flight of Bob Funk's last-minute field goal that gave them 23-21 win.

Hartman, Tom Coccione, Dennis Rozario, Mike Gartung, Doug John and linebackers Russ Kuhns, Jim Godfrey and Ben Gasatis.

The "winning attitude," which Coach Bert Clark sought at Washington State, arrived with emphasis in 1965, and 31 lettermen, headed by All-America end candidate Rich Sheron, promise no change in 1966.

The Cougars must find a new quarterback but have ample candidates, including returnee Mike Cadigan and sophomores Lee Omlid, Hank Gurida and Jerry Henderson. The fullback search could be filled by sophomore Del Carmichael, while 6-foot-9 sophomore Ted Wierman should be an easily recognizable target at end. Offensive players back are halfbacks Ammon McWashington and Ted Gerela and three all-Coast selections—center Ron Vrlicak and guards Dave Middendorf and Robin Larson. The defensive platoon is led by middle-guard Jim Harris, linebackers Jim Vest and Mark Wicks and defensive halfback Dave Petersen.

At Washington, Jim Owens has 28 lettermen, but not necessarily in the right order. End Dave Williams and halfback Donnie Moore are two reasons the Huskies are deceptively powerful. Williams not only catches the ball (38 receptions for 795 yards in 1965), but can disappear with it (10 TDs). Moore, a 205-pounder, rushed for 673 yards last season.

Tom Sparlin, idle most of '65 with a broken collarbone, and Frank Etter are leading quarterback candidates. Fullback Jeff Jordan's knee surgery leaves him questionable, but if OK he'll help.

The Huskies' offensive line is intact with Williams and Omar Parker at end, tackles Bob Richardson and Jim Kirk, guards Mike Ryan and Gary Brandt and center Greg Cass. Defensively, end Tom Greenlee, tackle Steve Thompson and backs Dave Dillon and Bob Pederson supply experience, with Bill Glennon and Cliff Coker probable linebackers.

DECISIONS, DECISIONS—Southern California's Larry Petrill (61) knows he can't tackle, both Gary Beban (16) and Paul Horgan (39), to whom the UCLA quarterback is prepared to give handoff. Bruins took final decision, 20-16, before 94,085 fans.

Improved scoring punch is Stanford's goal, and if the Indians can achieve it with 25 lettermen and some fine sophomores the title could end up there. John Ralston must replace fullback Ray Handley, some linebackers and a secondary. Senior quarterback Dave Lewis returns after finishing third in league passing and total offense, but it's no guarantee he'll beat out swift sophomore Gene Washington.

Stanford's offensive regulars are end John Mason, tackle Blaine Nye, guard Rick Derby, center Tim Sheehan, fullback John Read and Lewis. Defensive starters are end Bill Ostrander, tackles Al Wilburn and Monty Mohrman, guards Bill Ogle and Mike Hibler and back John Guillory.

California's Ray Willsey escaped from a tough '65 schedule with a 5-5 mark. But he still needs backfield speed, which sprinter Forrest Beaty, John Fay or 9.7 sophomore Joe Richards may supply.

Most of the Bears' 20 lettermen are on the defensive squad—headed by tackles Dan Goich and Mike Brown and backs Bob Smith and Lloyd Reist—and strengthened by the addition of 255-pound sophomore tackle Ed White. Ends John Beasley and Jerry Bradley are back, but Willsey must develop a quarterback, with sophomores Rick Telegran and Barry Bronk fighting veteran Dan Berry for the job.

Since returning to the AAWU in 1964, Oregon has won only one league game, and the Ducks may repeat as cellar-dwellers in 1966.

The top star is split end Steve Bunker, who led the league in receiving with 51 catches for 838 yards and nine touchdowns. Coach Len Casanova has ample backfield possibilities in redshirts Roger Smith and Steve Jones, junior-college transfer Jim Evenson and lettermen Scott Cress, Arlan Elms and Bill O'Toole. But it's no guarantee the Ducks, who averaged only 98 rushing yards per game last year, can run. Mike Brundage and Tom Trovato, two of 27 veterans back, are in the quarterback scramble with newcomers Dick Jones, Mike Barnes and Eric Olson.

Experienced linemen on hand are center Bill Smith, guards Ross Carter and Jim Kollmann, defensive end Ray Eaglin and tackle Bob Lawrence. Tim Temple, Ken Klein and Jim Smith return to the secondary.

On the independent front, San Jose State started slowly in '65, but won five of its last six games. Now Coach Harry Anderson must replace departed quarterback Ken Berry and fullback Charley Harraway.

Rubber armed transfer Dan Holman battles Bill Casey and Jim Webster at quarterback. Halfback hopefuls are Randy Key and Danny Anderson, the fullbacks Bob Trujillo and Bob Parlasca. End Steve Cox (38 catches) returns with defenders Mel Tom, Rich Dixon, Martin Baccaglio, Mike Spitzer, Eb Hunter, Bill Peterson and Dick Watts.

University of the Pacific, under new Coach Doug Scovil, needs more depth. At least four players—tackles Larry Anderson and Bob Locatelli, ends Larry Bishop and Raydell Barkley—will go both ways. John Quaccia has been shifted from halfback to quarterback to battle transfer Bob Lee. UOP expects to be respectable in 1966.

WITH A MOMENT TO SPARE, thanks to delaying tactics teammate Bruce Kehrl (62) is using on Army linebacker Pete Braun, Stanford quarterback Dave Lewis waits anxiously for receiver to get into the clear. Indians scalped visiting Cadets, 31-14.

Jack Layland and Quaccia are the top runners, Dan Blumquist, Walter Harris and Charles Alexander the defensive backfield.

A close race is expected in the SCIAAC this season as four teams are considered strong candidates to win the title.

Occidental swept through the league last season and Coach Jim Mora's Tigers have 20 returning lettermen, plus help from a strong freshman squad. Top turners are Joel Sheldon, Mike Luttrell, Rich Verry and Bob Jones.

Although Pomona Coach Walt Ambord has a veteran team back, including the league's top passer, Clarence Haynes, and receiver Steve Dundas, the Sageshens lack line depth. Coach Frank Serrao expects a better season at Redlands with three All-SCIAAC players returning—Don Ford, Bob Campbell and Larry Nelson.

Whittier, the perennial champion, attempts a comeback but Coach John Godfrey's Poets still need to find a quarterback. Led by linebacker Norm Lytle, the defense should be strong.

Though the other two teams, Claremont-Mudd and Cal Tech, hope for better things this season, inexperience continues to plague both squads.

From all indications the key to the 1966 FWC title will be depth. Defending titlist San Francisco State has only two offensive returnees in guard Elmer Collett and end Kerry Patterson. On defense the Gators return ends Rudy LePera and Ted Lewis, tackles Terry Oakes and Virgil Cookes, guards Levi Byrd and Lyle Baucom and backs Jim Gray, Dave Vieira and Harry Gualco.

Runnerup Nevada returns backs Art Bayer, Chris Ault and Mike Prosser along with linemen Mike Hauk, Ed Hoefler, Jerry Troy and Tony Betita.

Humboldt State, with new coach Frank Van Deren, has fullback Mel Oliver and linemen Jerry Stoffel, Rolla Callahan, Duane Smith and Harold Nelson forming the offensive nucleus. UC Davis returns quarterback Dennis Bunting, halfbacks Dick South and Glenn DuFour and fullback Jack Edwards.

Chico State's fortunes look up with top ground-gainer Ron Morelli, quarterbacks Frank Garrity and Jim Combs and end Terry Stratton all back, and Sacramento State also hopes for a brighter season with the return of fullback Mike Clemons, who was injured in 1965. Hayward State returns almost its entire team, including its top ground-gainer, Rick Miller.

The 1966 season in the CCAA could be called "The Year of the Quarterback." Three teams, each with a veteran signal-caller, try to unseat champion Los Angeles State, winners of three straight titles, and a team without an established quarterback. The Diablos must replace quarterback Ray Jones, plus most of their offensive line. All-league defensive end Perry Parks and linebacker Bill Pace return, along with halfback Phil Spiller.

Runnerup Long Beach State had its best season in 1965 and brings back CCAA passing and total offense leader Jack Reilly. San Diego State welcomes 18 lettermen including quarterback Don Horn, CCAA total offense runnerup.

Danny Robinson returns to quarterback Fresno State, under new coach Darryl Rogers. The fine Bulldog defensive unit also is back, including all-CCAA linebacker Bill Wiley.

Senior Walter Raymond and two other seasoned quarterbacks, Jeff Carlovsky and Jack Wool, hold the key to Cal Poly's bid while junior signal-caller Bruce Lemmerman, fourth in CCAA total offense, returns for San Fernando.

THE BOWL GAMES REVIEWED

Three Unbeaten Teams 'Bowled' Over In Biggest New Year's Day Of Upsets

By TED SMITS

General Sports Editor, The Associated Press

Three teams went into the 1966 major New Year's bowl games with lustrous, unbeaten records. And all three fell in what must rank as one of college football's most surprising days of upsets.

The loudest crash was registered in the Rose Bowl, where Michigan State, undefeated champion of the Big Ten, was upended by twice-beaten, once-tied UCLA, the AAWU champion, 14-12.

Almost as unexpected was the 14-7 Cotton Bowl victory of Louisiana State over Arkansas, the unbeaten champion of the Southwest Conference.

And in the Orange Bowl, once-beaten, once-tied Alabama outraced Nebraska, the perfect-record champion of the Big Eight, 39-28.

Ted Smits

At the end of the regular season, the United Press International proclaimed Michigan State the national champion. But the Associated Press took its final poll after the bowls, because of the presence of eight of the nation's top 10 teams in the games, and Alabama was declared the winner, with Michigan State second.

Coach-of-the-Year honors were also split, with the Football Writers Association choosing Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State and the Football Coaches selecting Tommy Prothro of UCLA.

As if to strike a balance, the Football Writers Association voted Michigan State and Alabama national co-champions.

In other major year-end games, Mississippi beat Auburn, 13-7, in the Liberty Bowl, Tennessee downed Tulsa, 27-6, in the Bluebonnet Bowl, Georgia Tech defeated Texas Tech, 31-21, in the Gator Bowl, Missouri squeezed by Florida, 20-18, in the Sugar Bowl, and Texas Western edged Texas Christian, 13-12, in the Sun Bowl.

But what happened in the Rose Bowl left both the experts and fans limp. Michigan State was huge and fast, its lineup loaded with a variety of All-America players, and its record was imposing. The Spartans toppled seven Big Ten foes and won three games against formidable outside competition—Notre Dame, Penn State and UCLA itself, the latter by a 13-3 score in the season's opener. UCLA was 7-2-1 for the season.

Gary Beban, the outstanding Bruin sophomore quarterback, was the key to the upset, scoring two quick touchdowns in the second period. The first was set up when Don Japinga of Michigan State fumbled a punt on his own six and John Erquiaga recovered for UCLA. Beban ran to the left for five yards and then to the right for the touchdown, with Kurt Zimmerman kicking the first of two all-important extra points.

DOES SNOW KNOW WHERE TO GO?—You bet! Georgia Tech's sophomore tailback, Lemmy Snow (41), carried 33 times for 136 yards and Most Valuable Player award in Jackets' Gator Bowl win. Texas Tech players are Doug Young and Jim Haney (30).

UCLA then promptly stunned the Spartans with a successful onside kick, gaining possession on the State 42-yard line. Five plays later, Beban drilled a pass to Kurt Altenberg on the one-yard line and then Beban carried over himself for the score.

But the game was far from over. Michigan State, known as a come-from-behind team, tried and almost succeeded. Before the first half ended, the Spartans punched to the UCLA six but Dick Kenney, the Hawaiian barefoot kicking specialist, failed on a 23-yard field-goal attempt.

In the second half Steve Juday, the Spartan All-America quarterback, threw a 42-yard pass to Gene Washington to set the stage, and Jim Raye, Juday's substitute, pitched out to Bob Apisa, who ran 38 yards for a touchdown. The Spartans gamely tried for a two-point conversion with Juday faking a place-kick, but he was tackled as he tried to pass.

State scored again by marching from midfield in 15 plays, with Juday carrying over from inches away. Again the Spartans tried for two points, but Apisa was tackled just short of the goal line, and UCLA's 14-12 win left the partisan crowd of 100,087 limp and reeling.

"They deserved to win," said Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State afterward. "We gave it a real good effort and only lost by inches."

"It was the greatest win for our kids and me," said UCLA Coach Tommy Prothro. "After all, a season proves a football team and I still think Michigan State is the best in the country."

Before 76,200 in the Cotton Bowl, college football's longest then-current winning streak was ended. Louisiana State, with hammering Joe Labruzzo sparking the attack, beat Arkansas, 14-7, and snapped a string of 22 straight Razorback victories. LSU capitalized on an Arkansas fumble for one touchdown and a poor kick for the second, with Labruzzo scoring both touchdowns in the second period.

Arkansas took the lead in the first period when Jon Brittenum threw to Bobby Crockett, who twisted down the sidelines for a 19-yard TD.

The third unbeaten team to taste the bitter bowl brew was enormous Nebraska. Playing at night in the Orange Bowl, and inspired by word from Pasadena of Michigan State's defeat, Alabama's great passing combination of quarterback Steve Sloan and end Ray Perkins put on a dazzling show for 74,200 spectators. Sloan threw to Perkins for two touchdowns, and the two teamed up for long strikes that set up a third touchdown and also a 19-yard field goal by Dave Ray.

Sloan completed 20 out of 29 passes, two better than did his famed predecessor at Alabama, Joe Namath. Sloan's 296 air yards broke the Orange Bowl record of 276 set by Frank Broyles of Georgia Tech in 1945.

But Nebraska was not without glory. Bob Churchich, a substitute quarterback, tied the bowl mark by completing three touchdown passes. Alabama gained 296 yards passing and 222 rushing, while Nebraska chalked up 232 yards through the air and 145 on the ground.

By defeating third-ranked Nebraska, fourth-ranked Alabama vaulted over Michigan State in the final AP poll.

The other bowl games had their moments of drama, too.

Many of the 67,421 fans in the Sugar Bowl carried transistor radios to hear what LSU was doing to Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, but there was also excitement aplenty in front of them. Missouri edged Florida, 20-18, thanks mainly to near-sighted halfback Charlie Brown. Brown, who wears contact lenses, scored Missouri's first touchdown on a 10-yard run and set up a field goal with a 15-yard sweep. Florida came alive in the last period, scoring three times with ace passer Steve Spurrier responsible for all the points. Spurrier also set bowl records by attempting 45 passes, completing 27 and gaining 352 yards passing.

A record crowd of 38,607 at the Liberty Bowl in Memphis saw Mississippi win over Auburn, 13-7, thanks to the toe of Jimmy Keyes. He kicked field goals of 42 and 30 yards and the extra point after Doug Cunningham caught a six-yard touchdown pass from Jody Graves. Tom Bryan, Auburn fullback, ran 42 yards for his team's only score.

Tennessee's rugged defense was all important in its 27-6 victory over Tulsa in the Bluebonnet Bowl. The Volunteers recovered two fumbles and intercepted a pass that set up another. Jerry Smith set up the fourth for Tennessee on a 49-yard punt return. Although Tulsa scored on a run, the Hurricane aerial circus put on quite a show in the rain. Bill Anderson, the nation's top passer, completed 23 of 47 for 250 yards, and Howard Twilley, the nation's No. 1 receiver, caught eight.

In the Sun Bowl, Texas Western, trailing 10-0 at the half, came back strong in the final two periods, led by the nation's No. 2 ranked passer, sophomore Billy Stevens, and edged Texas Christian, 13-12. Stevens' aeriels were good for 21 completions and 208 yards. The Miners' decisive points came on Joe Cook's 20-yard field goal in the fourth period, his second three-pointer of the game.

A crowd of 60,127 in the Gator Bowl saw Kim King and Lenny Snow pace Georgia Tech to a 31-21 upset of Texas Tech. Texas Tech's much-publicized halfback, Donny Anderson, played a superb game, but his team could not contain Georgia Tech's powerful attack.

THE AMERICAN OF ALL TIME

2-Platoon Consensus Team First Ever; Michigan State Dominates A-A Roster

By LARRY KLEIN

Associate Director, The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau

Shades of twin astronauts and Double-O 7. The 1965 All-America consensus team consists of two platoons. This historic first in college football came about because most of the national selectors shattered precedent and picked offensive and defensive units instead of the traditional "elevens" most had named even during the previous two-platoon era of 1949-52.

Larry Klein

While saluting the specialists in 1965, the selectors also paid overwhelming tribute to the Michigan State squad that won all its regular-season games before being upset in the Rose Bowl. No less than seven Spartans made the full 42-player All-America roster—the most teammates so honored in the same season in 63 years.

Indeed, since the birth of All-America squads in 1889 just two schools have ever had as many players make the dream team together. Harvard had eight in 1901 and Yale had seven each in 1900 and 1902, in the days when All-America rosters were the exclusive property of the Eastern establishment. (The only non-Easterner among the 48 selections on those three squads was end Neil Snow of Michigan.)

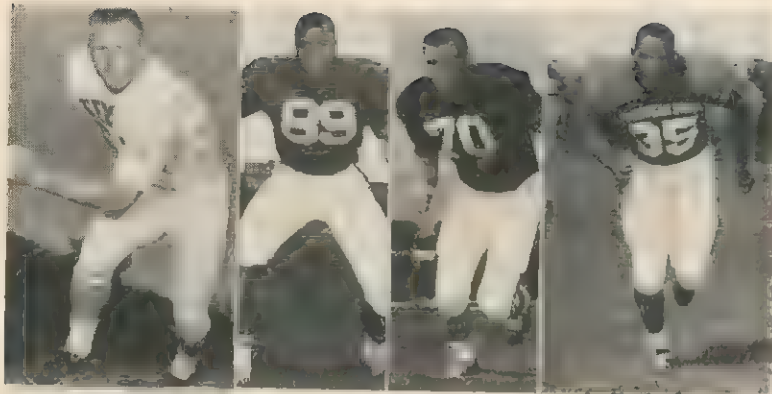

Around measure of Michigan State's startling feat: Over the past 50 years just three other colleges have boasted more than four All-Americans at one position. Notre Dame placed five each in 1943 and '47, Georgia Tech six in 1952 and Army six each in '44 and '45.

The 1965 consensus "22" represented all six sections of the country, though the offensive platoon looked more democratic. It consisted of one to three players from every section, while the defensive unit was weighted with five Midwesterners but nobody from the East or Far West.

The defense also had no unanimous selections, in contrast with the offense's four—Tulsa end Howard Twilley, the national scoring champion, Notre Dame guard Dick Arrington, Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski and Southern California halfback Mike Garrett, the Heisman Trophy winner.

Though the 1964 consensus team was an all-senior eleven, the '65 consensus included four juniors—Charles Smith and George Webster, both of Michigan State, Loyd Phillips of Arkansas and Bob Griese of Purdue.

Griese, only the second non-senior consensus quarterback in the last decade (Navy junior Roger Staubach made it in '63), and his running mates rolled up more mileage than any previous backfield in All-America history. All told, the fearsome foursome passed, rushed, received and returned kicks for 7087 yards—803 yards more than the former record-holding backfield of 1953 (Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame, Paul Giel of Minnesota,

The geographically similar '65 backfield contributed yardage this way: Texas Tech halfback Donny Anderson 2107, Garrett 1916, Guese 1784 and Grabowski 1280—an average of 1 mile 12 yards each.

Michigan State's seven places give the Spartans 28 A-A roster selections in the last 30 years, exactly half as many as Notre Dame has earned in that span. Army is second with 38 berths, while Ohio State and Oklahoma are tied for third with 32 each, just ahead of Michigan State.

Below and on the following pages is the roster of 960 players from 106 schools who have been first-team selections on one or more nationally recognized All-America teams since 1936.

MAJOR-COLLEGE STATISTICS

Air Traffic May Hit New High As 12 Return Who Hit 100 Or More In 1965

By STEVE SIRIANNI

General Editor, The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau

Approximately 115 college football teams, which play most of their games against each other, are classified as "major-college" or University Division teams. They represent the field of so-called "big-time" college football as judged by class of competition rather than seasonal strength. The football teams of all other four-year, accredited colleges and universities comprise the College Division field. An official list is issued annually each September.

Based on pre-season form charts, air action in major-college football promises to be at an all-time high in 1966. For the first time ever, more than eight "century club" passers march back to duty.

Steve Sirianni

Among those again on hand who contributed to the success of 1965's aerial circus are 12 of the record 21 who completed 100 or more passes, including nine of last season's top 13 finishers. The previous mark for century club returnees was eight, set in 1964.

Heading the cast is Texas Western junior Billy Stevens, second in both passing and total offense in 1965, when since-graduated Bill Anderson of Tulsa smashed most of the season records teammate Jerry Rhyme established the previous year. Stevens gained more yards passing last year than any other player in history except Anderson, and his season's pass completions and total offense yardage trail only Anderson's and Rhyme's on the all-time major-college list.

But if Stevens hopes to grab the two vacant titles, he'll have to beat out such ranking passers as Vidal Carlin of North Texas State, Steve Spurrier of Florida, All-America Bob Griese of Purdue, Carroll Williams of Xavier, junior Chuck Burt of Wisconsin, Virgil Carter of Brigham Young, Hank Washington of West Texas State and Benny Russell of Louisville.

Stevens does have one distinct advantage over his closest competitors, though. Both his top two receivers—1965 national runnerup Chuck Hughes and 13th-ranked Bob Wallace—are back for another season. Between them, Hughes and Wallace pulled down 128 passes in 1965, good for 2387 yards and 20 touchdowns. Other established pass-receivers raring to go include Neal Sweeney of Tulsa and John Love of North Texas State, third and fourth respectively last season, Jack Clancy of Michigan, Steve Bunker of Oregon, Dan Abramowicz of Xavier and John Wright of Illinois.

The spotlight will not belong exclusively to the air arm, however, because four players who gained more than 1000 rushing yards each last season return along with three others of 1965's top 13 ball-carriers.

New Mexico State's senior tailback, Jim Bohl, third among last year's rushing leaders with 1187 yards, paces this year's crop of title aspirants.

Pete Pifer of Oregon State, Floyd Little of Syracuse and Ray McDonald of Idaho are the other 1000-yard runners back, along with Charlie Brown of Missouri, junior Brendan McCarthy of Boston College, Garrett Ford of West Virginia and Bill Wilson of Cornell, all of whom gained more than 800 yards rushing last season.

Dave Lewis of Stanford, the punting runnerup in '64 and the champion in '65, is the only individual around to defend his crown, but it's been 24 years since anyone managed to outkick the rest of the booters more than once. Second-place Joe Payton of Arizona heads a list of challengers that includes eight of last year's top 13 punters.

The No. 2 finishers in kick-scoring and punt returns, Ronny South of Arkansas and Larry Wachholtz of Nebraska, are also on hand, but so are most of the specialists trailing them. South's competition figures to come from Michigan State's barefooted Hawaiian, Dick Kenney, Colorado State's Bob Wolfe and Georgia's Bob Etter, while Wachholtz must compete with Chuck Greer of Colorado, Little, Marcus Rhoden of Mississippi State and Doug Cunningham of Mississippi. Bob Grim of Oregon State, fourth in 1965, is the top player back in kickoff returns, and second-place Jim Miller of New Mexico State paces the pass interception returnees.

'65 Season Individual Leaders

Rubber-armed Bill Anderson of Tulsa shattered most major-college season offense records set by Jerry Rhome in 1964, and won the 1965 individual total offense and passing crowns, making Tulsa the first school ever to produce different total offense and passing champions in succession.

Like Rhome, Anderson enjoyed enormous winning margins. Anderson's total offense figure of 3343 yards—more than 94 of the nation's 114 major teams totaled—beat runnerup Billy Stevens of Texas Western by 632 yards. And the Hurricane senior's passing margin—an even 100 completions over Stevens—was more than twice the previous biggest winning margin of 48 completions by Stanford's John Brodie in 1956.

Anderson's 580 rushing-passing plays broke Rhome's season workhorse record of 470, and he rushed or passed for 224 points, 68 more than second-place Carroll Williams of Xavier. Tulsa's tireless human pitching machine cranked out single-game marks of 65 pass attempts (twice), 42 completions against Southern Illinois and 502 passing yards against Colorado State University in his final game.

Four other players joined Anderson and Stevens in the select 2,000-yard total offense club last year, compared with the former high of four who did

Anderson, who had thrown just one pass (incomplete) in collegiate varsity competition prior to last season, made up for lost time swiftly. In one three-game stretch, for example, he fired for 16 touchdowns—a figure surpassed in a full-season by only three major collegians in the previous nine years. Some of his seven major-college passing records are equally astounding—296 completions, more than any major-college player ever totaled in two seasons, except for Rhome and Baylor's Don Trull (1962-63); 509 pass attempts, 174 more than the former record, and 3464 passing yards—only 56 yards short of two miles.

Though overshadowed by Anderson, second-place Stevens also tossed more passes (432) and gained more aerial yards (3042) than any previous major collegian. Along the way, he had the dubious distinction of tying the major-college season record for most passes had intercepted—29—set by Georgia's Zeke Bratkowski in 1951.

Tulsa's sure-handed Howard Twilley closed his career by becoming the third major player ever to win consecutive pass-catching crowns, and in the process he established eight receiving records. Twilley, an engineering math major, kept the adding machines busy as he set season records of 134 receptions, 1779 pass-receiving yards and 16 touchdowns, and career marks of 261 catches, 3343 pass-catching yards and 32 TD catches.

Twilley also became the first college player to win both pass-receiving and scoring titles the same season, by outpointing Floyd Little, 127 to 114. Twilley's feat (and feet, since he kicked 43 extra points during that time) made him the first major player since Glenn Davis of Army (1944-45) to score more than 100 points in two consecutive seasons.

Halfback Mike Garrett of Southern California won the rushing title with 1440 yards, the highest total in 14 years, and finished as the major-college three-year rushing leader with 3221 yards. Only Art Luppino of Arizona ever gained more than Garrett (3381 yards in four seasons).

Tailback Jim Bohl of New Mexico State, third in rushing behind Garrett and Jim Grabowski of Illinois last season, recorded the top single-game performance with 252 yards in 21 carries against Eastern New Mexico.

The player who provided the most kicks during 1965 was Princeton's Hungarian-born Charley Gogolak, who established seven major-college records with his soccer-style boots. Gogolak broke the season kick-scoring mark with 81 points, including an all-time high 16 field goals and 33 straight PATs. He also set career marks for consecutive extra-point conversions (50), most field goals (27), most kick-scoring points (170) and a single game mark of six field goals.

Three other major collegians booted at least 10 field goals last season—Colorado's Frank Rogers (13), Michigan State's Dick Kenney (11) and Georgia's Bob Etter (10)—compared to a total of only five 10-plus field-goal kickers altogether in modern times prior to 1965.

Punting champion Dave Lewis of Stanford headed a Western contingent that took seven of the top eight places, with Lewis edging Joe Payton of Arizona, 44.9 to 44.6 yards per boot, in the closest race since 1952.

All three runback leaders, however, were from the Eastern half of the country. Notre Dame's Nick Rassas edged Nebraska's Larry Wacholtz by a scant seven yards, 459 to 452, for the punt-return title, and Eric Crabtree of Pittsburgh beat Steve Bramwell of Washington for the kickoff-return crown. Bramwell did set career records, though, with 1473 kickoff-return yards, a 26.8 average and 2177 combined punt and kick return yards.

Maryland's Bob Sullivan snared the pass interception title with 10 steals, a figure that hasn't been topped since Oregon's George Shaw established the all-time record of 13 in 1951.

'65 Season Team Leaders

Tulsa continued its domination of the team statistics in 1965—winning its fourth straight passing title and second straight total offense crown. The Golden Hurricanes boosted their all-time leading total to 15 national offense-defense championships won. Oklahoma and Army are second and third, respectively, with 12 and 11 team titles in the 29 years official national records have Tulsa broke its own passing record by throwing the ball for 346.4 yards per game. Players on the Tulsa bench could have suffered stiff necks watching, as the Hurricanes put the ball in the air a record 65.4 per cent of the time. While winning its sixth passing championship, Tulsa also added its fifth total offense crown and finished third in scoring offense behind champion Arkansas and runnerup Nebraska.

Arkansas' 32.4 points per game gave the Razorbacks their second straight scoreboard title, having led in scoring defense in 1964. Nebraska regained the rushing offense crown it wore in 1963, with a 290.0-yard average, and finished second in total offense behind Tulsa.

Aided by the rule change permitting a higher kicking tee, field goals also reached a new high for the third straight year, with 484 three-pointers kicked—116 more than the 1964 record.

Defensively, Michigan State grabbed two of the four titles, Southern Mississippi led in total defense for the second time in three years and Toledo was the second straight Mid-American Conference team to win the pass defense crown (Kent State won it in 1964).

Whether Michigan State's huge defensive line (244-pound average) frightened enemy runners or simply outmuscled them, the fact remains that the Spartans gave up only 45.6 rushing yards per game—the stingiest allowance by any major team in 18 years except for Syracuse's 19.3-yard average in 1959. And State's behemoths were even tougher near the goal line, permitting just 6.2 points per game, including only three TDs by rushing.

COLLEGE DIVISION STATISTICS

Fearless Forecast: All New Leaders (No '65 Titlists On Hand To Defend)

By JERRY OLNICK

Associate Editor, The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau

It looks like another year of Golden Opportunity for college-division football players. For the second time in three years, there are no individual champions back to defend their national statistical crowns.

There are, however, plenty of powerful contenders for the vacant titles, if form holds.

Five of the top 10 finishers in last season's total offense race return, led by junior quarterback Dan Miles of Southern Oregon. Miles wound up second in the closest battle for total offense honors in college-division history, losing by a scant nine yards though he had an even 100 rushing-passing plays less than the winner, since-graduated quarterback Ron Christian of Northern Illinois.

Others back with top-10 credentials are senior Marlin Briscoe of Omaha juniors Greg Landry of Massachusetts and Don Gault of Hofstra and senior Jack Reilly of Long Beach State.

Miles, the most accurate passer in all of college football the last two seasons, is also the top returnee in completions, but he faces at least a four-way challenge in that category, too. Gault, Paul Krause of Dubuque, Corey Colehour of North Dakota and Ken Eldridge of American International completed 130 or more passes each last season, and all will be setting their sights higher on the firing line this season.

Like Miles, halfback Walt Pickett of Baker (Kan.) is a junior and the leading returnee in two categories. He finished third in both rushing and scoring but, again like Miles, it won't be easy pickings for Pickett.

Seven other players who gained more than 1000 rushing yards are back, and seven others of last season's top 12 scorers also return.

The thundering herd of ball-carrying challengers is headed by Dick Nocera of Southern Connecticut, Ed Wing of Williams, Bob Ferguson of Westminster, Tuck Spaulking of Principia, Jerry Drinkwitz of Luther, Dickie Moore of Western Kentucky and John Ogles of Austin Peay.

The highest scorers still around are Weber State's Henry Owens, who tied Pickett for third with 102 points, Ken Rota of North Dakota State, Sharron Washington of Northeast Missouri State, Nocera, Tom Grayson of Guilford, Wing and Roger Heirigs of Yankton.

Graduation left the most open spaces in the pass-catching and punting ranks. Truman Franks of Trinity (Tex.), runnerup to 1965 champion George LaPorte of Union (N.Y.), is the only one of the first eight receivers back, while Pat Hogan of Southwest Missouri and Jon White of Southwest Texas, seventh and eighth respectively, are the top punters returning.

'65 Season

Individual

Leaders

Ron Christian gave Northern Illinois its third individual total offense title in four years by edging Dan Miles, 2307 yards to 2298. The Huskies' George Bork won the title with his passing prowess in 1962 and 1963.

The difference in the 1965 race was the 206 yards the 5-foot-11 Christian gained rushing to 5-7 Miles' 21 yards lost rushing.

Left-handed quarterback Bob Caress of Bradley established season and career workhorse marks, with 444 and 1361 rushing-passing plays.

Passing champion Caress set three other career records with 610 completions for 7115 yards in 1156 attempts (including a high of 393 in 1965).

The statistics rankings show that nearly everybody tried to get into the aerial circus act. Two and a half times as many players as ever before had at least 100 completions (49, to the 1964 high of 20).

Though only 19th in completions, Ed Buzzell of Ottawa (Kan.) led in touchdown passes for the second straight year with 31, only one shy of Bork's record, and set a career record of 72 TD tosses.

Accuracy laurels went to Miles again despite his "dropoff" to .688 (170 of 247) after he had soared to the all-time high of .748 as a varsity-playing freshman in 1964. Miles also led with 2319 passing yards last year.

George LaPorte, a 5-8, 170-pound wingback, gave Union (N.Y.) its first individual crown in history when he led the college-division pass-receivers with 74 receptions in eight games. LaPorte's 9.3 catches a game were the most ever by a college-division player.

LaPorte held off a surge by end Truman Franks of Trinity (Tex.) and won by one grab. Tied for third with 70 receptions each were Southern Oregon's Spike Gordon and '64 runnerup Gary Garrison of San Diego State.

Gordon, Miles' favorite target, was tops in yardage with 1163 yards to 1076 by Len Scheufler of Ottawa, while Scheufler's teammate, Dick Booth, was the nation's most efficient receiver, making his 36 catches good for a country-high 14 touchdowns. Shelly Novack of Long Beach State and Hofstra's Bill Starr caught 13 TD passes each.

Allen Smith of Findlay closed with a rush (25 of them actually) in his final game, gaining 194 yards and catching four-week leader Mel Stanton of Eastern Washington in the closest rushing race in college-division history. Smith finished with 1240 yards gained to 1238 for Stanton.

Walt Pickett, who gained 213 yards in his team's finale, finished third with 1212 yards. Luther's Jerry Drinkwitz was the nation's workhorse with 239 carries, and San Diego State's Nate Johns topped all rushers with more than 100 carries by averaging 8.1 in 115 tries.

The Smith-Stanton duel highlighted a highly productive year for college-division ball-carriers, with a record 17 players reaching the charmed 1000-yard circle. Just once previously did more than 10 players do it in the same season (16 in 1952).

Smith also exploded for 43 points in his final game, tying Jim Brown's all-time major-college single-game scoring record, and grabbing the scoring title from runnerup Mel Stanton, 146 points to 126. Smith became only the second player ever to win the college division scoring and rushing titles in the same season (Al Conway of William Jewell did it in '52).

Frank Petrella of Hofstra led the kick scorers with 47 points.

Punting champion Steve Ecker of Shippensburg averaged 49.1 yards—2.0 yards better than the previous college-division record. Only Kirk Wilson of major-college UCLA ever did better (49.3 in 1956).

'65 SeasonTeam*Leaders

The Pacific Coast and the Missouri Valley split the four team offense crowns in 1965.

Long Beach State swept to the total offense crown with a 439.5-yards-per-game average, displaying a balanced attack of 2184 yards gained rushing and 2211 passing. Southern Oregon's Red Raiders nosed out Ottawa, 268.9 to 268.6 yards per game for team passing honors, in the second closest race in college-division history. Unde-feated Ottawa did take scoring laurels, though, with 43.2 points per game—almost seven points better than second-place North Dakota State—and finished third in total offense.

Huron (S.D.) won the team rushing title, its third in eight years, with an all-time college-division low of 303.3 yards per game, but still 23 yards a game better than runnerup Wilkes (Pa.).

The top ten teams in total offense, rushing, passing and punting:

Morgan State (Md.) added proof of its defensive might in 1965 by winning its second straight total defense crown, adding the rushing defense title and finishing as runnerup in scoring defense. The unbeaten Marylanders (8-0), limited their opponents to a mere 15.0 rushing yards and 91.5 total yards per game, and gave up only 27 total points.

Minot State (N.D.) gave up the fewest passing yards, allowing its eight opponents a total of only 24 completions and 44.5 air yards per game. Unde-feated St. John's (Minn.) had the best scoring defense, giving up only 20 points in nine games, and shutting out six opponents. Shippensburg won the punting title with an all-time high of 47.3 yards a kick.

Held to a 6-6 tie by Miles (Ala.) in its third game, Fort Valley State (Ga.) erupted the next week for the biggest single-game score of the 1965 season, a 94-0 rout of winless Lane (Tenn.).

1966 University Division Schedules

Listed alphabetically in this section are the 1966 schedules and 1965 records of all teams classified "major-college" in 1965.

Schedules and records of College Division teams are listed in a separate section, beginning on page 120.

Below each school name and location appears the name of its 1966 head coach, together with his complete coaching record for all seasons as the head coach at any four-year collegiate institution.

Home games are indicated by a diamond (♦) and night games by an asterisk (*). Neutral sites are indicated by footnote symbols († † #) on each schedule.

Opposite each opponent on a team's 1966 schedule is the all-time series record—the number of games won, lost and tied against that opponent in previous meetings between the two teams.
